

Judge Tells Rotary:

Vocations Character Expression

350 At Opening District Meeting

"Our vocations not only furnish us a living, but also express our characters and show how we worship God and how we give service to man," the chief justice of the Colorado Supreme Court said here Sunday.

Chief Justice Mortimer Stone was banquet speaker for the opening session of the 177th district conference of Rotary International at the Cornhusker Hotel. About 350 persons are attending.

"We must recognize the changing need and nature of service in an increasingly complicated world," Chief Justice Stone said.

"This is an age of groups," he said, describing the past 50 years of Rotary as part of a world-wide movement.

Takes Cross Section

It takes a cross section of many groups, he said, "to emphasize the unity of people and to build friendships in a spirit of fraternity."

Rotary, he said, is not principally "a community booster, an educational group or a panacea for the world's ills. It has no secrets or rituals and represents no creed, but is dedicated to the ideal of service."

Joan Krueger of Norfolk, University of Nebraska graduate who has spent the past year in Paris, spoke at the afternoon session of the conference.

Patience Urged

"We can't solve France's problems," Miss Krueger said, "but in the interests of peace and understanding, we can be patient while France tries to solve them."

If we recognize and accept the French character as they accept our national character, she said, "it can and will lead one day to mutual faith and reciprocal confidence."

The French do criticize Americans, she said, "but they also criticize themselves, just as we do, and this criticism should not be interpreted as dislike for us."

Miss Krueger, a former Star staff member, described student life at the Sorbonne, where she studied on a Seacrest scholarship, and told about student Communist activities.

The conference was opened by R. J. Cederdahl, a member of the host Northeast Lincoln Rotary Club.

Members of new clubs at Avoca, Ia., and Auburn, Neb., were recognized.

A reception for District Governor Henry F. Schepman and Mrs. Schepman of Falls City followed the afternoon program.

Herbert Heumann, president of the Northeast Rotary, gave the welcoming address. Dr. Guy Matson of Lincoln was toastmaster at the banquet.

Mayor Clark Jeary will give an address of welcome at the Monday morning session.

Speakers will include Al Sorenson, past president of the Omaha Rotary, and Harry F. Russell of Hastings.

Dr. A. Leland Forrest, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan University, will address the group in the afternoon.

Past District Governor Don L. Harding will present trophy awards in the evening.

Speaker will be Dr. Robert Patterson, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of South Dakota, Vermillion, S. D.

Mu Phi Epsilon Installs Patrons

Thomas Wickstrom, assistant professor of Music education, and Robert Beadell, counterpoint instructor, were installed Sunday night as patrons of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority.

Installation of the two University of Nebraska faculty members came at the Founders Day banquet of the organization at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Miss Doralee Wood was initiated as a new member, and a special program commemorated the founding of the organization. The dinner was attended by members of the local active chapter and alumnae from Lincoln and vicinity headed by Mrs. Adelaide Spurgin.

of the children, and he said he'd try some more himself."

Following another time interval—the length of which Mrs. McNeil was unsure—Mintun phoned a second time. Again he requested help with Mrs. McNeil, and once more Mrs. McNeil declined.

At about 7 a. m. a third call came from Mintun, according to Mrs. McNeil, and went like this:

"Verda, I think she's dead. I can't feel any pulse. I'll bring her over and we'll see what you think," Mintun said.

"I called some relatives, told them briefly what had happened, and they said they'd be right over," Mrs. McNeil continued.

When Mintun arrived, he called her out to the car. She got in the back seat and found Mrs. Hovland "with her blouse open and her

Meat Cutters Take Employer Offer

OMAHA (U)—Local 44 of the AFL Omaha Meat Cutters Union Sunday afternoon voted to accept a shorter work week and a wage increase offered by management, Secretary-Treasurer Joe Silhasek said.

Silhasek said the contract covered union employees working in meat departments of Omaha chain stores as well as independently operated stores.

The contract, he said calls for a 42½ hour, 5½ day work week with salary increases ranging from 5 5/10 to 7 5/10 cents per hour.

The management offer was made late last week to union negotiators, but was not ratified by members of the union until Saturday afternoon.

skirt above her knees," Mrs. McNeil said.

"Then I moved her head and found it all covered with blood on the one side," Mrs. McNeil said. At this time, she instructed her relative to call police.

Police said they found blood on the ground and on a clothesline pole near the porch.

Mamie Holds 58th Birthday Anniversary

WASHINGTON (U)—Sunday was Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower's 58th birthday and her pastor wished her "many more days of good health and helpful service."

The President's wife, Mamie, attired in a smart black dress, gray fur stole and small white hat trimmed in red, attended morning services at National Presbyterian Church with her husband.

She acknowledged the "happy birthday" greeting of news photographers with a smiling, "Thank you, very much."

At the door after the service Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, pastor of the church the Eisenhowers joined when they moved to the White House, offered his congratulations.

A few relatives and close friends were invited in Sunday night for supper and slices of birthday cake. Among the relatives are Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, who is staying at the White House, and the first lady's sister, Mrs. George Moore, and her husband, Col. Moore, who lives in Washington.

Farm Bureau Service Hears Dr. Dale Welch

Dr. Dale Welch, president of Hastings College, was speaker at a vesper service which opened the Farm Bureau Federation State convention at the Lincoln Hotel Sunday night.

Dr. Welch, discussing Christianity, said it is neither a church building nor a creed, but a way of life.

Finalists in the State Talent Find Contest, selected following the vesper service, were:

Ruth and Clifford Hess of Far-

nam, who sang a vocal duet.

Virginia Reeves of Lincoln (representing Merrick County), piano solo.

Gary Brach of Bennington, piano solo.

Vergene Pape of Cortland, vocal solo.

In the talk meet contest, one winner and two finalists were selected.

The winner was Raymond Doerr of Creighton (junior division).

The two senior division finalists, who will compete Monday night, are Ruth Ann Clark of Brock and Charles Jenkins.

Charles Marshall, Farm Bureau president, will be speaker at a Monday morning session.

State Supt. Freeman Decker, Assistant Supt. R. L. Fredstrom and Mrs. David Edgren of Holdrege will discuss redistricting of schools at a conference of Associated Women Monday afternoon.

Other group conference topics will be governmental affairs, livestock and field crops.

5 Children Die

MANGHAM, La.—Five children of one family were burned to death when their small frame home was destroyed by fire.

Charred remains of the children, ranging from 8 years to 10 months in age, were found in the twisted debris that had been a bed. All five were apparently in one bed.

Sarah Wesley, their mother, said she left the children in bed while she went grocery shopping.

Mendes Lands

QUEBEC (U)—French Premier Mendes-France landed Sunday at Quebec's Ancienne Lorette Airport to begin his North American good will tour, which will include a visit to President Eisenhower in Washington.

As the 47-year-old statesman stepped from the luxuriously-furnished Air France Constellation, an honor guard of 100 French speaking members of Canada's Royal 22nd Regiment stood at attention and scarlet-coated bandmen struck up "the Marseillaise."

A-Talks Open

TOKYO (Monday) (U)—Japanese and American scientists today opened joint discussions on atomic radiation in a five-day session expected to ease hard feelings over the American H-bomb test at Bikini last March 1.

Allied Strike Settled; New Contract OKd

OMAHA (U)—The two-week strike at the nitrogen division of the Allied Chemical and Dye Corp. plant ended Sunday night with agreement between the company and union on a new contract.

The walkout of 280 production and maintenance men began Oct. 30 when attempts to negotiate for a new contract failed. The men were members of the Omaha Metal Trades Council, AFL.

A joint statement issued by Tom Short, president of the Metal Trades Council, and Richard Robinson, attorney for Allied, said:

"Negotiators for the Metal Trades Council and the management of Allied Chemical and Dye Corp. reached an agreement on their negotiations for a new labor contract.

"Terms of the two-year agreement included a 4½ cent per hour each year wage increase, seniority plan acceptable to both parties, and other mutually-agreeable contract clauses.

R. L. Ruggs, plant manager, said:

"We are pleased that we were able to work out a satisfactory agreement with the Metal Trades Council. We expect our employees to return to their jobs Monday.

We appreciate Gov. Robert Crosby's statesmanship and the help of other interested parties. I want to thank them publicly for the part they played in bringing about this agreement."

It was mutually agreed that the employees would return to work on their regular shifts beginning Monday morning at 8 o'clock.

Rights Stressed

LEXINGTON, Mo. (U)—Former President Harry S. Truman Sunday said it is impossible to have world peace "unless we are able and willing to stand up for our rights and the rights of the free world."

Truman spoke at 75th anniversary ceremonies of Wentworth Military Academy here. He was made an honorary colonel in the Wentworth cadet corps.

HEBRON, Neb.—Approximately 100 persons were on hand for the dedication of the St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church at Hebron Sunday.

The Rt. Rev. Howard Brinker, bishop of Nebraska, dedicated the building which was moved to Hebron from Tobias. The Hebron parish was organized about a year ago.

The Rev. Allen P. Smith of Fairbury serves the Hebron, as well as the Fairbury, parish.

Fund Started For Accused NP Sailor

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (U)—A Harry Lockhart fund, with a goal of $1,500, has been established by friends to help pay medical expenses and attorney fees for a young sailor, charged with murder in Norfolk, Va.

Lockhart, a 21-year-old North Platte man, was charged after his wife and baby died of carbon monoxide poisoning in their small apartment at Norfolk about 10 days ago.

Lockhart is being treated in a civilian hospital at Norfolk for brain damage incurred when the carbon monoxide gas escaped from a faulty heater.

The North Platte fund, established under the sponsorship of the Noel C. Donegan VFW Post, will be used to pay an attorney secured through VFW efforts for Lockhart and for the services of a brain surgeon who has been retained to treat the young sailor.

Officials of the North Platte VFW said they would also make an effort to have Lockhart transferred to a Navy hospital to cut medical expenses.

The murder charges against Lockhart have not been dropped, despite a verdict of death-by-gas from Charles O. Barclay, Norfolk medical examiner. He also ruled that the death of Lockhart's 19-year-old wife and small son was "accidental."

$125 Zenith Hearing Aid Better Buy Than Aids Averaging $268!

SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE that the Zenith—priced at less than ½ as much—offers equivalent performance for ½ the average operating and upkeep cost!

Zenith has always said you can pay up to $300 or more but you can't buy a finer hearing aid than a Zenith. To support this statement, Zenith requested the United States Testing Company, Inc.—America's foremost private, independent testing laboratory—to purchase on the open market two Zenith Hearing Aids and two each of America's five foremost competitive brands of transistor hearing aids, and to test them thoroughly.

Price of the 3-transistor Zenith "Royal-Ts" was $125. Prices of the other hearing aids ranged from $229.50 to $295...an average price of $268!

These scientific tests proved that the Zenith—priced at less than one-half as much—offers equivalent performance for one-half the average operating and upkeep cost of the other brands tested!

The results of these rigorous tests are so important to the hard-of-hearing that we have prepared a free booklet giving the details. It should be read by every hard-of-hearing person before buying any make of hearing aid. The facts may save you or a friend $150 or more! ## -Named In Plot- Egypt's Naguib Ousted

Premier Nasser Is Undisputed 'Strong Man'

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt's governing Revolutionary Council Sunday deposed Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib as president and council chairman. It accused him of being implicated in a plot by the fanatic Moslem Brotherhood against the life of his rival, Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The action against Naguib was taken after an early morning clash in suburban Heliopolis between police and a Brotherhood mob in which two civilians were killed and two policemen seriously wounded.

Maj. Amin Shaker, a government spokesman, said Youssef Talaat, leader of the Brotherhood's secret order, was arrested and confessed Egypt's 53-year-old president had approved the assassination plot against Nasser.

Officials said Sunday's clash started when Talaat's guards opened automatic rifle fire and used hand grenades to clear an escape route for him from the place he had been hiding since September. The government had offered a reward of $5,640 for information leading to his arrest.

Strong Man
The council's action Sunday left Nasser, 37, undisputed strong man of Egypt. A government source said he would be acting president as well as premier until a new chief of state is chosen.

The action climaxed a long rivalry between the two soldier-politicians who had teamed up to depose King Farouk in July, 1952. Their clash burst into the open last February when Naguib acted as president and premier. Popular outcry forced the Revolutionary Council to restore him as president, with the premiership going to Nasser.

Naguib had some ups and downs after his restoration. He resumed the premiership and council chairmanship last March 8, leaving Nasser his old post of vice premier. On April 15 Naguib again relinquished the premiership to Nasser and became a figurehead president. Since then his prestige has deteriorated slowly but steadily.

Eight Shots
Sunday's swift steps came in at an atmosphere of tension and expectancy. Moslem Brotherhood witnesses made damaging statements regarding Naguib last week before a military court trying Mahmoud Abdel Latif, Cairo tinsmith and Brotherhood member who admitted he fired eight shots in an unsuccessful attempt to kill Nasser in Alexandria Oct. 27. The witnesses said Naguib had plotted with the Brotherhood to overthrow Nasser.

A total of 700 Brotherhood members are under arrest. One local leader, Hindawi Dewier, testified Thursday he had been told the organization was in contact with Naguib and the president had agreed to make a broadcast to "calm the populace" if the October plot succeeded.

Fire-Defense 'Practice' Kills Snyder Man

SCRIBNER, Neb. (AP)—A county-wide civil defense and volunteer fire department exercise at the Scribner airport backfired Sunday and one man was killed.

Leo Lennemann, former volunteer fire chief at Snyder, died of a head injury when a pile of tires, lumber and other items, which had been soaked with gasoline, exploded and flying debris hit him in the head.

The pile of debris was soaked as firemen sought to ignite a building which had been moved to the airport for the demonstration. Lennemann was standing nearby when the fire was set and the explosion occurred.

He was dead on arrival at a Fremont hospital. Under plans for the demonstration, the building was to have been ignited and fire equipment from Nickerson, Hooper, Scribner, and other towns was to be dispatched to the scene.

The fire fighters were to demonstrate methods of putting out blazes, and there also were to be exercises and demonstrations in rescue squad work and communications.

Lennemann had retired as volunteer fire chief at Snyder, but was an honorary member of the department. A half dozen other persons standing near Lennemann escaped injury.

'Keep Sex From Politics' —Lady County Attorney

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

A blonde lady lawyer at Nebraska City, Mrs. Betty Peterson Sharp, believes that sex should be kept out of politics.

Mrs. Sharp, a 34-year-old mother, overcame a last minute attack upon her sex to capture the Otoe County attorneyship. She is the second Nebraska woman elected to such an office.

"The attack upon my sex boomeranged in my favor," she said. Opponents, she said, placed an ad in the local newspaper the night before election telling the public that the county attorney's job was no woman's job.

Too Gruesome
They said that because the corner's job belongs with the office, it was too gruesome for a woman. The ad stated that a refined woman would shrug her shoulders in such cases and walk away, Mrs. Sharp commented.

"I thought they were intimating I was not respectable," she said, "until my husband convinced me that they were saying I was too respectable for the job."

Reaction Terrific
The reaction to the ad was terrific. Mrs. Sharp was besieged with telephone calls the next day scoring the attack.

"I would not have answered the attack even if it had been placed earlier," she said. "During the last two terms, the county attorney has had to deal with only one murder and one manslaughter prosecution," Mrs. Sharp explained.

"I ran because I'm an attorney and it is a lawyer's job, I felt I could do it," she said. If past circumstances are an indication, Mrs. Sharp will do well in her public office.

Father's Partner
Betty and her father, Lloyd Peterson, were in law partnership until he died in 1950.

"When he died," she said, "he had ten cases ready on the court docket."

"I worked from 7 a.m. to late at night to get my father's work finished," she said.

Betty and her husband, Leonard, have managed separate careers (his is contracting) and a family too.

The schedule is tight, but she gives plenty of time to her three-year-old son, Johnny. Johnny stays at a friend's home during the day playing with a pal his own age. After the law office closes at 5 p.m., his mother brings him home.

"My husband pushed me all the way in the election," she said.

"He was in favor of my running from the start, and together with my mother they put on a better campaign than I did," she said.

"I guess I have a natural aversion to tooting my own horn," Betty added.

The Nebraska City lawyer does not plan to make a political career for herself.

"I think there is some prejudice against women in politics," she admitted.

Mr. and Mrs. Torkelson Die In Crash

Two former Lincolnites were killed Sunday afternoon in an automobile accident seven miles from Little Rock, Ark.

They were Mrs. Frances L. Torkelson, 68, supreme oracle (president) of the Royal Neighbors of America, (an insurance society for women) and her husband, Torkel, age 80.

The Torkelsons had moved from Lincoln to Rock Island, Ill., about four years ago. They were on their way to a convention in Little Rock when their auto slid in loose gravel and struck a tree, according to word received here.

Mrs. Torkelson, who was elected to her second four-year term as oracle last June, had been a national officer of the insurance organization since 1917 and was active in the National Fraternal Congress.

She had held all offices of Magnolia Camp 44, RNA, in Lincoln, and all in the state organization. She was a member of Tabernacle Christian Church, Order of the Eastern Star, Lincoln Woman's Club, and Charity Rebekah Lodge 2.

Survivors include her brother, G. G. Robinson of Lincoln.

Youth Killed By Mishap While Hunting

OAKLAND, Neb. (AP)—Glen Erickson Jr., 17, died Sunday afternoon en route to an Omaha hospital after being shot in the right temple while target practicing with a friend north and west of here.

Sheriff Walter Dean said Erickson and a companion, Bob Plymate, 18, of Fremont, were practicing when a bullet struck the Erickson youth in the head.

Plymate took Erickson to Fremont and the boy was put in an ambulance headed for Omaha. He died there from Fremont and Valley.

Sheriff Dean expressed belief the shooting was accidental, but said an inquest would be held, "probably on Monday." Erickson was shot with a .22 caliber revolver.

Band Teacher Playing Blues

Ceresco Band Instructor Paul Parker is playing the blues.

Police reported a $400 flute, $325 clarinet and a $25 electric razor were taken from his car which was parked between 11th and 12th on R.

He told the police that several other instruments in the car were not taken. Entrance was gained through a previously broken window.

Naval Victory Scored

Fast Soviet-Built Torpedo Boats Enter War

TAIPEH, Formosa (Monday) (AP)—Four Chinese Red torpedo boats sank the Nationalist destroyer escort Taiping—formerly the USS Decker—in a gun battle 215 miles north of Formosa.

It was the first big naval triumph scored by the Communists and the Nationalists warned that more such clashes could be expected with speedy torpedo boats they described as Russian-built. The clash took place 30 miles off the coast of Red China's Chekiang Province in the darkness.

The 1,800-ton Taiping—Chinese for "Majestic Peace"—went down with guns blazing 12 miles north of the Nationalist-held Tachen Islands. Nearly six hours after it was torpedoed.

All but 28 of her crew of some 180 were rescued, most of them by another destroyer escort, the Taiho. Nationalist ships and planes continued the search for survivors.

One of the rescued died and many others were reported wounded in the battle.

Shen Chang-huan, acting Nationalist foreign minister, said this first loss of a Nationalist warship served as "a warning to those who still persist in believing that the Chinese Communists want peace and have no intention of invading Taiwan (Formosa)."

Massing Forces
Although it was the first such reported use of the torpedo boats by the Reds, Nationalist officials said they knew the Communists had them. There have been persistent reports the Reds were massing naval craft in the Chushan Islands, 100 miles north of the Tachens, outpost defenses for Formosa.

Peiping's account of the action said the Taiping was "on a Tachen to Yushan Island, 30 miles northeast, when the phosphorescent wake of a torpedo was sighted. That one missed but three others headed toward the Taiping and one scored the fatal blow."

The Taiping's commander was among the rescued.

News of the sinking came as a jolt to Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists. This first use of torpedo boats by the Reds was regarded in Taipei as introducing a new and dangerous element into the civil war.

Decker
The Taiping was transferred to the Nationalists by the United States in 1946. As the Decker, she was built at the Philadelphia Naval Yard. While serving the U. S. Navy, she had a complement of 220 officers and men.

American quarters said no ships and planes of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, which guards Formosa against any aggressive move by the Communists, were involved in rescue operations after the sinking.

The Navy Press contact told newsmen they probably knew more about the sinking than he did. Capt. Alfred D. Kilmartin of Palo Alto, Calif., naval attaché of the U. S. Embassy, had something else on his mind. He had been all day at the bedside of his wife who gave birth Saturday to their fourth child, a girl.

Soviet Claims
TOKYO (Monday) (AP)—Peiping radio claimed today that the Chinese Reds damaged three Nationalist destroyers, a gunboat and a transport during a two-month period. Red anti-aircraft units shot down 21 Nationalist planes and damaged 67 others.

2 Omaha Hotels Robbery Victims
OMAHA (AP)—Night clerks in two Omaha hotels were robbed at gunpoint in almost the same manner within 1½ hours early Sunday.

Detectors expressed belief the holdups were staged by the same man. The robberies netted a total of $61.

Mathew Boyle, clerk at the Chief Hotel, gave the holdup man $27 from the cash register. Arthur L. Gordon, clerk at the Colonial Hotel, shelled out $34.

Both clerks said the robber was between 25 and 28 and had a thin mustache, a tan or grey overcoat and was of medium height and build.

Grim Task At Coal Mine

Four miners watch as a bulldozer seals the main entrance to the explosion-wrecked Jamison Coal and Coke Co. Mine at Farmington, W. Va., ending all hope of saving 15 of their fellow miners who were trapped below ground. Mining officials ordered the pit sealed to extinguish a fire that followed the blast. (AP Wirephoto)

Blast-Wrecked Mine Sealed, 15 Entombed

Slim Hope For Rescue Of Miners Ends With Attempt To Halt Fire

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Grim-faced miners finished the job late Sunday night of sealing up a blazing, explosion-wrecked coal mine—the tomb of 15 men.

Three entrances to the mine were walled up with steel and concrete. Then a crane lowered steel plates over a ventilation shaft and an elevator portal. Concrete was poured on top.

Officials hoped by sealing the mine to cut off the flow of air feeding a fire burning deep underground and snuff it out. None could even guess when they would be able to reopen the diggings to send rescue crews into the blast area.

The grim decision to seal the mine ended any slim hopes that any of those entombed might be rescued.

One other man, working outside, also was killed in the violent explosion Saturday which wrecked one of the mine entrances and a ventilation shaft.

The blast, followed by a raging fire underground, occurred at the No. 9 mine of the Jamison Coal and Coke Co. in this little north central West Virginia community.

No Idea
State Mines Chief Frank B. King, who described the mine Sunday as "a powderkeg," and company officials said they had no idea what may have caused the explosion.

A second blast Saturday night sent flames roaring more than 100 feet into the sky above the ventilation shaft. No one was injured because only security personnel were in the area.

Vice President James H. Byrd of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., which recently acquired the corporate stock of Jamison, said the explosion undoubtedly resulted from ignition of highly combustible methane gas.

He added that an atmosphere test in the mine only 30 minutes before the first explosion showed the air was clear.

"Something suddenly happened to release a considerable portion of methane," Byrd said.

Nothing Else
The decision by King to seal all the mine openings, concurred in by U. S. Bureau of Mines and company officials after more than three hours of conferences, came Sunday.

Visibly moved and conceding that the step removed any slender hope that some of the men might survive, King explained "there was just nothing else we could do."

The fire which followed the first explosion sent heavy black coal smoke curling from the mine's main portal, more than two miles from the explosion area.

Emergency crews hopped, in sealing the openings, to smother the fire by cutting off supplies of oxygen entering the mine. No one would say, however, how long that might take.

Special Sympathy
CHERRY, Ill. (AP)—The blast and fire which trapped 15 coal miners underground at Farmington, W. Va., evoked special sympathy Sunday in this north central Illinois village of 500.

The West Virginia tragedy occurred on the 45th anniversary of the Cherry mine disaster in which 268 persons died. It was the worst mine accident in Illinois history.

Like the blast-wrecked Farmington mine, the Cherry workings of the St. Paul Coal Co. were sealed to smother the fire. The mine was later reopened and all bodies recovered. Twenty-one men trapped in a second vein were brought out eight days after the fire began—20 of them still alive. Only one of these, Frank Vanard, 60, is still living.

STAR PRIZE

FAIRBURY, Neb. (AP)—Ever go through a bunch of old bones and come up with a historical prize? American Legion members did.

They found a flag with 45 stars—one that had served Fairbury Grand Army of the Republic. The 45-star flag was used after Utah became the 45th state in the union in 1909.

U.S. Delegation Junks Another HST Project In United Nations

... 'Code Of Offenses' Opposed

By A. I. GOLDBERG
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.S. delegation disclosed it has junked another Truman administration project here and will oppose drafting a new international "code of offenses against peace," based on the war crimes trials at Nuremberg and Tokyo.

Charles Mahoney, U. S. delegate who is a lawyer and insurance executive in Detroit, will voice the U. S. opposition at Monday's meeting of the Assembly 60-nation Legal Committee, a delegation spokesman said.

This is the third such proposed treaty the Eisenhower administration has turned its back on. Last year Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, U. S. delegate to the Human Rights Commission, told that group the United States refused to go along with proposed treaties defining human rights. Later Secretary of State Dulles said the United States would not ratify a treaty on political rights for women.

In both cases the United States said these were rights best furnished by national example and not by trying to put them in words in a treaty. Both had been pushed by U. S. delegates during the Truman administration.

War Crimes
The United States originally asked for the draft "code of offenses against the peace and security of mankind" in 1946, when it still looked as if the World War Allies could work together.

It was to be based on the principles developed first at the Nuremberg war crimes trials and amplified at Tokyo war crimes trials of Japanese leaders.

The U. N. General Assembly in 1947 authorized a start on the code, and the International Law Commission did preparatory drafting which has had some study from governments.

This was the first crack the Eisenhower administration delegates have had at the project, which went beyond the Nuremberg principles dealing with crimes against peace, war crimes and crimes against humanity.

Armed Bands
The proposed draft code also would include such matters as terrorism, organization of armed bands and encouragement of civil strife against another state, unlawful annexation of territory and mass extermination of peoples.

It is linked with setting up a court of international criminal jurisdiction, next on the legal committee's study program. The United States is going to oppose that idea, too, the spokesman said.

Whatever merit the ideas might have, the delegation spokesman added, it is too far ahead of the state of the world today. Countries can't even agree on how to define words and the U. N. was being asked to approve something that would be supranational law, overriding all national legal concepts, the spokesman noted.

Britain's delegate in the committee, pointing out that the committee has agreed to shelve a decision now on a definition of aggression, has already suggested that the committee also forget about the code at this session.

A Netherlands jurist, B. V. Roling, who was a judge in the Tokyo war crimes trial, has argued the code must be adopted for all the world or else Germany and Japan will feel the victors have dealt unjustly with the losers in World War II.

Final City Vote Total Hits 37,264

The official canvass and counting of absentee and disabled votes for the Nov. 2 general election boosted the record high total vote to 37,264.

The vote is a record for off-year or non-presidential elections. The past high was 36,371 votes cast at the 1950 election.

The official canvass added 797 votes, 759 of them absentee and disabled, to the previous unofficial count of 36,467. The extra votes, however, followed the same results shown in the unofficial count—a solid Republican majority in all offices.

No changes in the final outcome were made as a result of the canvass.

Income Steady

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Commerce Department announced that total personal income during the first nine months of 1954 was at the same level as in the corresponding period of last year.

Income received by individuals during the third quarter was at an annual rate of 286 billion dollars, up one billion from the first quarter, for an average of 285 billion 500 million dollars.

Nebraska City News-Press Marks 100th Year With Ike's Congratulations

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. (AP)—The Nebraska City News-Press Sunday observed its 100th anniversary.

Among the congratulatory messages received by J. Hyde Sweet, long-time editor and publisher of the newspaper, was one from President Dwight Eisenhower.

The letter, written Oct. 23, declared: "I have just learned that your newspaper will be 100 years old on Nov. 14 and I am delighted to send warm congratulations to all members of your staff."

"In its century of publication, the Nebraska City News-Press has surely served well the people of its community and has contributed to the growth and prosperity of Nebraska. I am therefore happy indeed to join your readers in congratulating you on this significant occasion.

"You have my best wishes for the success of your newspaper throughout the years ahead."

The News-Press, the first newspaper published in Nebraska, observed the occasion by issuing a Sunday edition which was the largest ever printed in Nebraska City. The centennial edition was 64 pages.

The paper noted that "just 100 years ago today Thomas Morton set the first type for the first newspaper in the state."

Judge Tells Rotary:

Vocations Character Expression

350 At Opening District Meeting

"Our vocations not only furnish us a living, but also express our characters and show how we worship God and how we give service to man," the chief justice of the Colorado Supreme Court said here Sunday.

Chief Justice Mortimer Stone was banquet speaker for the opening session of the 177th district conference of Rotary International at the Cornhusker Hotel. About 350 persons are attending.

"We must recognize the changing need and nature of service in an increasingly complicated world," Chief Justice Stone said.

"This is an age of groups," he said, describing the past 50 years of Rotary as part of a world-wide movement.

Takes Cross Section

It takes a cross section of many groups, he said, "to emphasize the unity of people and to build friendships in a spirit of fraternity."

Rotary, he said, is not principally "a community booster, an educational group or a panacea for the world's ills. It has no secrets or rituals and represents no creed, but is dedicated to the ideal of service."

Joan Krueger of Norfolk, University of Nebraska graduate who has spent the past year in Paris, spoke at the afternoon session of the conference.

Patience Urged

"We can't solve France's problems," Miss Krueger said, "but in the interests of peace and understanding, we can be patient while France tries to solve them."

If we recognize and accept the French character as they accept our national character, she said, "it can and will lead one day to mutual faith and reciprocal confidence."

The French do criticize Americans, she said, "but they also criticize themselves, just as we do, and this criticism should not be interpreted as dislike for us."

Miss Krueger, a former Star staff member, described student life at the Sorbonne, where she studied on a Seacrest scholarship, and told about student Communist activities.

The conference was opened by R. J. Cederdahl, a member of the host Northeast Lincoln Rotary Club.

Members of new clubs at Avoca, Ia., and Auburn, Neb., were recognized.

A reception for District Governor Henry F. Schepman and Mrs. Schepman of Falls City followed the afternoon program.

Herbert Heumann, president of the Northeast Rotary, gave the welcoming address. Dr. Guy Matson of Lincoln was toastmaster at the banquet.

Mayor Clark Jeary will give an address of welcome at the Monday morning session.

Speakers will include Al Sorenson, past president of the Omaha Rotary, and Harry F. Russell of Hastings.

Dr. A. Leland Forrest, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan University, will address the group in the afternoon.

Past District Governor Don L. Harding will present trophy awards in the evening.

Speaker will be Dr. Robert Patterson, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of South Dakota, Vermillion, S. D.

Mu Phi Epsilon Installs Patrons

Thomas Wickstrom, assistant professor of Music education, and Robert Beadell, counterpoint instructor, were installed Sunday night as patrons of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority.

Installation of the two University of Nebraska faculty members came at the Founders Day banquet of the organization at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Miss Doralee Wood was initiated as a new member, and a special program commemorated the founding of the organization. The dinner was attended by members of the local active chapter and alumnae from Lincoln and vicinity headed by Mrs. Adelaide Spurgin.

of the children, and he said he'd try some more himself."

Following another time interval—the length of which Mrs. McNeil was unsure—Mintun phoned a second time. Again he requested help with Mrs. Hovland, and once more Mrs. McNeil declined.

At about 7 a.m. a third call came from Mintun, according to Mrs. McNeil, and went like this: "Verda, I think she's dead. I can't feel any pulse. I'll bring her over and we'll see what you think," Mintun said.

"I called some relatives, told them briefly what had happened, and they said they'd be right over," Mrs. McNeil continued.

Meat Cutters Take Employer Offer

OMAHA (AP)—Local 44 of the AFL Omaha Meat Cutters Union Sunday afternoon voted to accept a shorter work week and a wage increase offered by management, Secretary-Treasurer Joe Silhasek said.

Silhasek said the contract covered union employes working in meat departments of Omaha chain stores as well as independently operated stores.

The contract, he said calls for a 4½ hour, 5½ day work week with salary increases ranging from 5 5/10 to 7 5/10 cents per hour.

The management offer was made late last week to union negotiators, but was not ratified by members of the union until Saturday afternoon.

skirt above her knees," Mrs. McNeil said. "Then I moved her head and found it all covered with blood on the one side," Mrs. McNeil said. At this time, she instructed her relative to call police.

Police said they found blood on the ground and on a clothesline pole near the porch.

Mintun said he recalled the evening's happenings perfectly, according to Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll—except for an hour before he realized he was "standing on the porch and saw her sprawled on the sidewalk."

He told Carroll he sat in the car with Mrs. Hovland from about 3 to 5:30 a.m. He said he slept some and called Mrs. McNeil twice to come help him move the woman into the apartment.

Police received a call from the dead waitress' husband Sunday night. He plans to arrive in Lincoln Monday.

Authorities said Mintun's wife had arrived in Lincoln Sunday from Davenport.

Wagner said he talked briefly with Mintun Saturday morning and that he had been given a lie detector test Saturday afternoon.

Police questioned McNeil Saturday night concerning his activities during his second absence from home. He said he'd heard "enough arguing for one night" and had gone to Utica to see an old Army friend.

Mamie Holds 58th Birthday Anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sunday was Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower's 58th birthday and her pastor wished her "many more days of good health and helpful service."

The President's wife, Mamie, attired in a smart black dress, gray fur stole and small white hat trimmed in red, attended morning services at National Presbyterian Church with her husband.

She acknowledged the "happy birthday" greeting of news photographers with a smiling, "Thank you, very much."

At the door after the service Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, pastor of the church the Eisenhowers joined when they moved to the White House, offered his congratulations.

A few relatives and close friends were invited in Sunday night for supper and slices of birthday cake. Among the relatives are Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, who is staying at the White House, and the first lady's sister, Mrs. George Moore, and her husband, Col. Moore, who lives in Washington.

Farm Bureau Service Hears Dr. Dale Welch

Dr. Dale Welch, president of Hastings College, was speaker at a vesper service which opened the Farm Bureau Federation State convention at the Lincoln Hotel Sunday night.

Dr. Welch, discussing Christianity, said it is neither a church building nor a creed, but a way of life.

Finalists in the State Talent Find Contest, selected following the vesper service, were:

Ruth and Clifford Hess of Far-

nam, who sang a vocal duet.

Virginia Reeves of Lincoln (representing Merrick County), piano solo.

Gary Brash of Bennington, piano solo.

Vergene Pape of Cortland, vocal solo.

In the talk meet contest, one winner and two finalists were selected.

The winner was Raymond Doerr of Creighton (junior division). The two senior division finalists, who will compete Monday night, are Ruth Ann Clark of Brock and Charles Jenkins.

Charles Marshall, Farm Bureau president, will be speaker at a Monday morning session.

State Supt. Freeman Decker, Assistant Supt. R. L. Fredstrom and Mrs. David Edgren of Holdrege will discuss redistricting of schools at a conference of Associated Women Monday afternoon.

Other group conference topics will be governmental affairs, livestock and field crops.

QUEBEC (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France landed Sunday at Quebec's Ancienne Lorette Airport to begin his North American good will tour, which will include a visit to President Eisenhower in Washington.

As the 47-year-old statesman stepped from the luxuriously-furnished Air France Constellation, an honor guard of 100 French speaking members of Canada's Royal 22nd Regiment stood at attention and scarlet-coated bandmen struck up "the Marseillaise."

A-Talks Open

TOKYO (Monday) (AP)—Japanese and American scientists today opened joint discussions of atomic radiation in a five-day session expected to ease hard feelings over the American H-bomb test at Bikini last March 1.

Allied Strike Settled; New Contract OKd

OMAHA (AP)—The two-week strike at the nitrogen division of the Allied Chemical and Dye Corp. plant ended Sunday night with agreement between the company and union on a new contract.

The walkout of 280 production and maintenance men began Oct. 30 when attempts to negotiate for a new contract failed. The men were members of the Omaha Metal Trades Council, AFL.

A joint statement issued by Tom Short, president of the Metal Trades Council, and Richard Robinson, attorney for Allied, said: "Negotiators for the Metal Trades Council and the management of Allied Chemical and Dye Corp. reached an agreement on their negotiations for a new labor contract."

"Terms of the two-year agreement included a 4½ cent per hour each year wage increase, seniority plan acceptable to both parties, and other mutually-agreeable contract clauses."

R. L. Riggs, plant manager, said:

"We are pleased that we were able to work out a satisfactory agreement with the Metal Trades Council. We expect our employes to return to their jobs Monday."

We appreciate Gov. Robert Crosby's statesmanship and the help of other interested parties. I want to thank them publicly for the part they played in bringing about this agreement."

It was mutually agreed that the employes would return to work on their regular shifts beginning Monday morning at 8 o'clock.

Rights Stressed

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman Sunday said it is impossible to have world peace "unless we are able and willing to stand up for our rights and the rights of the free world."

Truman spoke at 75th anniversary ceremonies of Wentworth Military Academy here. He was made an honorary colonel in the Wentworth cadet corps.

The Rt. Rev. Howard Brinker, bishop of Nebraska, dedicated the building which was moved to Hebron from Tobias. The Hebron parish was organized about a year ago.

The Rev. Allen P. Smith of Fairbury serves the Hebron, as well as the Fairbury, parish.

Fund Started For Accused NP Sailor

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—A Harry Lockhart fund, with a goal of $1,500, has been established by friends to help pay medical expenses and attorney fees for a young sailor, charged with murder in Norfolk, Va.

Lockhart, a 21-year-old North Platte man, was charged after his wife and baby died of carbon monoxide poisoning in their small apartment at Norfolk about 10 days ago.

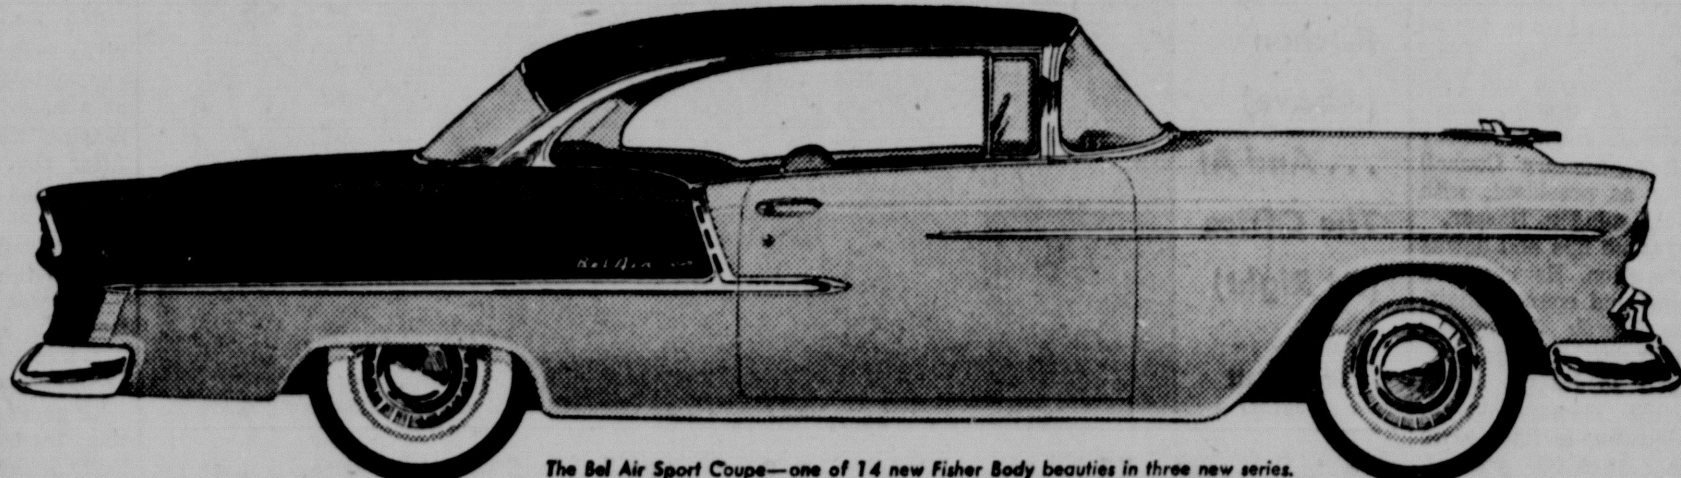

Lockhart is being treated in a civilian hospital at Norfolk for brain damage incurred when the carbon monoxide gas escaped from a faulty heater.

The North Platte fund, established under the sponsorship of the Noel C. Donegan VFW Post, will be used to pay an attorney secured through VFW efforts for Lockhart and for the services of a brain surgeon who has been retained to treat the young sailor.

Officials of the North Platte VFW said they would also make an effort to have Lockhart transferred to a Navy hospital to cut medical expenses.

The murder charges against Lockhart have not been dropped, despite a verdict of death-by-gas from Charles O. Barclay, Norfolk medical examiner. He also ruled that the death of Lockhart's 19-year-old wife and small son was "accidental."

Tagtail Tidbits

Nebraskans were enjoying the lingering days of an Indian summer which seemed reluctant to drift on over an autumn hill and into the blue haze of pleasant memory . . . "Balmy," one editor described it, all the while tugging restlessly at the editorial chains around his typewriter that kept him from his mellow and unseasonal benevolence . . . While the warm days were upon them, midwesterners combined a little of the grasshopper, a little of the ant . . . enjoying themselves along with preparation for the colder days ahead. And over the state, good neighbors were turning out by the legion in husking bee get-togethers for the disabled or bereaved who dwell among them . . .

Mild weather of the past few weeks has enabled farmers to near completion in the harvest labor of corn-picking. The Oakland area reports its crop 95 per cent in the bin and of good quality. Of the total acreage planted to corn in the state, 6,780,000 acres or approximately 96 per cent now embraces hybrid seed, a fact which had much to do with the tiding over of the crop through the prolonged dry days of July . . .

Furnas County nitroderms were trying their trigger fingers on Wyoming's big game ranges.

Two eager Beaver Citizens got their deer, but the others in their party, by local description, "got exercise, got fresh air, got tired, and got tired of each other's cooking . . ."

McCool offers perhaps the most unusual crop story, fact and not fiction, of the year. Ernie Rich in that neighborhood has harvested a second crop of oats, and all he had to do for the second growing was to harvest the first. Volunteer oats sprang into being all over the 28-acre field due to abundant rainfall during the last three months . . .

And also from McCool taking part in York's street dedication ceremony Saturday were the aged team of mules belonging to Art Jacobson. The mules, now 35 years old, are believed to be the oldest team in the state. Mr. Jacobson has long since used mechanization in his farming operations along with other progressive growers, but turned the old mules out with the promise of green pasture and a life of ease as long as they both live. "Mr. Jacobson may be harvesting largers crops in less time because of machinery," comments the York News-Times, "but something is missing. It is the victory of man and his animals over the rigors of the growing season."

Honoring Dr. Pool

The Kiwanis club of Lincoln has conferred its distinguished service award upon more than a score of useful Nebraskans but upon none more worthy than the recipient of 1954's medal, Dr. Raymond J. Pool, for years an outstanding teacher and faculty member of the University of Nebraska staff.

Modest man that he is, simple in habits, and shunning the spotlight Dr. Pool would be the first to brush aside attention, centered upon a career of remarkable achievement. But like the great Bessey at whose feet he sat as an undergraduate, thrilled and enthused by the prospect of a useful life in the field of forestry, scores of Dr. Pool's "boys" could testify to the inspiration he has been to them. It is that quality of inspiration which we are inclined to believe is the most valuable contribution any teacher makes to young people.

This has never been a dull world to Dr. Pool, either in its moments of agony or uncertainty or in its hours of bright promise. Its agonies and uncertainty served only to strengthen his faith and to arouse his greater activity. Its hours of serenity and bright promise held him in their magic, and filled the warm heart of a most kindly, tenderhearted, thoughtful and scholarly man with gratitude for the privilege of life. We've known Dr. Pool for many years always to admire those magnificent qualities of character he so splendidly has exemplified.

No man has had a greater devotion for Nebraska, or for the people of Nebraska. To him its hills, its woods, and its prairies have held great beauty. He is gifted with eyes which see much which escapes others of us with less sensitive perception. Never has he been happier than when opportunity permitted him trips to study the flora and the fauna of his own native state.

It might not have appealed to many of us Nebraskans but in 1920 in company with Paul B. Sears, now holding a key post on the faculty of Yale University, Dr. Pool set out on foot to cover the 70 miles of sandhill paradise stretching between Theford and Valentine. There were no roads then, scarcely trails leading across a magnificent grazing country. The first day's walk brought him and his companion to Brownlee, a second day to Dad's Lake, nightfall on the third day found them at the Snake River Falls. In all those 70 miles of tramping under the refreshing qualities of a spring sun consumed five days.

Still another overland trip, a solitary tramp during which man might reflect upon the glory of the universe, took him from Oshkosh across Garden county to Ellsworth.

In the course of those field trips to the Nebraska sand hills and to other parts of Nebraska Dr. Pool found 200 distinct species of grass growing here in Nebraska. It was his privilege during brief interludes to participate in the development of the Halsey forest, and in the more mature years pursue botanical studies of supreme importance in other parts of the United States.

Dr. Pool is and can be grateful for a fascinating life, crowned with many honors, among them the Kiwanis distinguished service award.

The Most Blessed

In every city and hamlet Americans last week paused to observe Veterans day in remembrance of men who have served and died so that their country with its great humanitarian principles might live. A living and constantly improving country is proof of how well those men have served.

But this year there was an added feature. The day became the time for the naturalization of those who were not born Americans but who have become brethren under the flag by their own petition. Over the nation 50,000 raised their hand to swear allegiance and to die, if necessary, for a flag that represents freedom, liberty, democracy and a way of life that time has proved to be incomparable.

Needless to say they are happy people. Most of them had had the experience of the displaced, had known the melancholy pangs of hardship, of fear and privation. They had lived the life of the harried and the unfree. The oath of allegiance was a deliverance for them.

Native Americans with all of their privileged experiences cannot have it all. They received their blessings by inheritance and while they cherish their country they will ever be denied the sweet experience that comes to those who have suffered and have hoped and one day received the bright deliverance that America can give.

All of us welcome those 50,000 new citizens and must confess that we also envy them a little for their fuller experience.

Forest Service At Odds With Benson

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Interior "Generous" Doug McKay isn't the only member of Ike's cabinet who seems interested in granting commercial concessions in our national forests.

Another is Ezra Benson. As secretary of Agriculture, Benson is head of the forest service; and, if he followed tradition, he wouldn't interfere with decisions of career national foresters. But he has broken the time-honored practice of his office and refused to accept a forest-service veto of an application to strip-mine in the Cumberland National Forest in Kentucky.

Benson has been warned that not only would lovely forestland be made barren if he overrules the forest service and allows strip-mining, but the unpolluted watersheds would be filled with poisonous by-products of surface coal mining. Also, Benson has been told, the land will be disfigured and made worthless by erosion if the trees are cut down.

Benson hasn't made his final decision yet. Says he wants to appoint a committee to decide whether to submit to the wishes of Stearns Coal and Lumber Co. of Stearns, Ky. This makes him the first secretary of agriculture in history to refuse to back up the forest service.

NEW SUPREME COURT JUDGE

If Judge John Marshall Harlan is anything like his grandfather, President Eisenhower has picked an A-1 new justice for the Supreme Court.

His grandfather, appointed to the Supreme Court in 1877, was a julep-drinking Kentuckian, who owned slaves himself, but battled for the cause of the Negro both as a member of the Union Army and on the Supreme Court.

It was Justice Harlan who wrote the ringing dissent in the first segregation case to come before the Court after the Civil War, a case which marked the death of the Fourteenth Amendment as far as Negroes were concerned—until just recently.

That case—U.S. v. Harris—was decided in 1883. Congress had passed an act authored by Sen. Sumner of Massachusetts giving equal privileges to Negroes in

"inns, public conveyances and theaters." But a majority of the court, though then dominated by Northerners, held the act unconstitutional. It buried the Fourteenth Amendment for 70 years, and a Northerner, Justice Bradley of New Jersey, wrote the majority opinion.

And it was a former slave owner, Justice Harlan of Kentucky, who wrote a burning dissent against his Northern colleagues who had fought a war to free the Negroes and then withdrew that freedom.

"Constitutional provisions," wrote Judge Harlan, "adopted in the interest of liberty, and for the purpose of securing liberty . . . have been so construed as to defeat the ends the people desired to accomplish, and which they supposed they had accomplished by changes in their fundamental law . . ."

"It is for Congress, not the judiciary, to say what legislation is appropriate. . . . The judiciary may not, with safety to our institutions, enter the domain of legislative discretion and dictate the means which Congress shall employ in the exercise of its granted power."

"The right of a colored person to use an improved highway upon the terms accepted to free men of other races, is as fundamental in the state of freedom established in this country, as are the rights which my brethren concede to be so far fundamental as to be deemed the essence of civil liberty."

Despite that dissent, Justice Harlan's brethren continued to make a mockery of the original intent of the Fourteenth Amendment, while Harlan continued to write opinions championing the rights of little people. It was he who supported the constitutional-ity of the income tax when it was first thrown out by the Supreme Court. And it was he who wrote the Northern Securities Company opinion putting railroads under the jurisdiction of the antitrust laws.

The new Supreme Court justice is a New York corporation lawyer. But if he's anything like his grandfather he will be an important addition to the court.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Lattimore Used In GOP Campaign

Editor's Note: This is another in the series of Marquis Childs' articles that trace history and appraise the significance of the Owen Lattimore case.)

WASHINGTON — On the eve of the Congressional election campaign the Eisenhower Administration made the Owen Lattimore case an issue by returning a second indictment of Lattimore and then in October by charging Federal Judge Luther Youngdahl with prejudice.

This became a major test in at least one state, and in view of the one-vote margin it could have determined which party controlled the Senate and the all-important committee chairmanships.

After he was defeated for the senate in 1952, Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Democrat of Wyoming, opened a private law office in Washington, following the custom of so many former members of Congress. He took several clients, among them Lattimore, who also had as counsel the firm of Arnold, Fortas and Porter. The latter had contributed their services in defending Lattimore through a series of Senate hearings and in the legal arguments over the first indictment the key counts of which were thrown out.

O'Mahoney had an active part in the challenge of the first indictment for its vagueness in accusing Lattimore of perjury when he denied he was a "sympathizer" with Communism or a "promoter" of Communist interests.

After the suicide of Sen. Lester Hunt (D-Wyo.), who had been harassed by Republican leaders with the threat that a family tragedy would be used against him, O'Mahoney decided to run again.

In his campaign he quickly discovered that the opposition with large resources of the money was exploiting his connection with Lattimore to the fullest in full-page newspaper ads and on the radio. This was linked with another lawyer-client relationship of O'Mahoney's two years in private practice. He had taken a retainer from the United States Cuban Sugar Corporation, owned by American citizens operating in Cuba.

Because this was technically a foreign company, even though American controlled and operated, O'Mahoney felt he should comply with the law requiring representatives of foreign companies to register with the Department of Justice.

In the campaign attack O'Mahoney was called "Foreign Agent 783," the number being his registration number in the Department of Justice. In the same ad "Foreign Agent 783" was shown as the paid attorney of Lattimore who had been called the "top Soviet espionage agent" by Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

O'Mahoney made a dignified and straightforward reply. He said he had not accepted Lattimore as a client until he had carefully studied the case and convinced himself of Lattimore's innocence.

He pointed out it is a basic tenet of Anglo-Saxon law that a man is presumed innocent until proved guilty and that in a fair trial the citizen is entitled to the best legal services he can obtain.

He called attention to the emphasis put on this in a resolution adopted by the American Bar Association in 1953. That resolution said no matter how controversial the individual, he was entitled to a lawyer to defend him, and that lawyer should not be condemned for taking the unpopular side of a case involving intense feelings.

When O'Mahoney returns to Washington he intends to press an investigation of whether the American Bar Association meant what it said in the 1953 resolution.

While this may not be a formal congressional investigation, there is already underway still more investigation into the Lattimore case. At the urging of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.), Sen. William E. Langer (R-ND), has ordered an inquiry into the unprecedented charge of prejudice leveled against Judge Youngdahl.

This conceivably could be widened to an inquiry into the way in which the power of prosecution of the Department of Justice has been used for political purposes. After the scandals in the Department of Justice were uncovered in the Harding Administration in which the power of prosecution 30 years ago, Calvin Coolidge named the late Harlan Fiske Stone, then a Columbia University law professor, as attorney general.

Without regard to where the praise or blame might fall, Stone with complete impartiality cleaned up the department and restored faith in the process of justice.

There were many who had hoped this would be a precedent for the Eisenhower Administration. But an increasing number of critics have accused Attorney General Herbert Brownell of playing politics with the power of prosecution.

Among the many editorials condemning the Administration for against Youngdahl was one in the Milwaukee Journal which concluded:

"A theory has been advanced, and the evidence seems to grow, that under this Administration the Justice Department is replacing the Post Office Department as the political vehicle of the party in power. It is not a pretty picture."

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

No Leaf-Burning In The Streets

Despite the late date, the city has yet made no announcement of a leaf burning but there are several things that are taken for granted without any announcement.

One of these is the fact that leaves should not be burned in the street. Burning leaves are harder on street pavement than years of automobile traffic.

The heat cracks and breaks up the paving, leaving holes to be enlarged in the months ahead by the elements of winter. With the arrival of spring, the results of leaf burning will be seen in large holes along the edge of the paving.

Another self-evident point is that regardless of whether the city permits leaves to be raked into the gutters, other yard rubbish is no city problem. The city might take it upon itself to clean up all leaves, in gutters but Street Superintendent Lynn Myers wants no part of dead garden plants, tin cans, tree limbs and other fall leftovers.

Those people with power mowers have an easy solution to their leaf disposal problem. The mower will chop the leaves into a fine mulch that serves as a good winter protection and fertilizer to lawns.

Dr. John P. Senning, chairman of the joint city-county building advisory committee, must be a patient man. He would have to be

Magic Of The Autumn Flight

A flock of ducks went over last night. We were in the back yard, and it was just dusk when we looked up and saw them. They were little black outlines against the darkening blue, in a long ragged line that seemed to wave gently up and down, as if a breeze were blowing on it.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

Speaking of fearful journalism, I speak only highly of Texas. Mighty nice state. Mighty big state.

Once I made a small purchase in Jokes in San Antonio. Mighty pretty girl behind the counter. She said:

"Hurry back now, hear?"

Said to her: "Say which, ma'am?"

She said: "Come back right soon."

Thought I had made plenty numbers with my pretty girl. Turned out I was mighty mistaken. All people in Texas talk like that.

Well, that is not what I started to say. I was reminded of Texas by Mr. George Dixon, the Washington journalist. And I assume by the time this reaches print George will know more about Texas than he did a few days ago.

Mr. Dixon has printed a piece saying that Texan birth certificates are no good if you want a passport.

This is mighty interesting to me. My own heiness was born in Corpus Christi some 11 years ago. She has a passport. But I think I got it for her. So maybe that isn't count.

Anyway, there will be some great cries of rage when this news reaches the Lone Star state. And I wish to establish my position before the fur flies.

My position is this: I think Texas should issue its own passports.

You cannot travel through Texas without learning a good deal about it. Mainly because it takes so long to travel through.

When my daughter was five, I left her in Texas while I was in Mexico. When I came back she was riding a spreader with a Mexican ranch hand. She was asking for "leche" instead of milk at the table. And she spoke highly of frijoles. She was talking Texan to the point I needed an interpreter. "I don't want to go home," she said. "I want to stay here with mah kin folks."

She still says "caow" for cow. And it fairly makes my blood boil that she is a little patronizing because I was born in Illinois.

"Where they give you a passport on your birth certificate, smarty?" I said.

She has a nervous giggle when she says "Are you truly a Yankee?" A little as though she were asking if I had the itch.

Despite this affliction, I speak highly of Texas. Once when Mr. Jesse Jones was running the RFC he bought me a drink in the Rice hotel in Houston. I have thought highly of Texas ever since. For it is very hard to come by schnapps in Texas.

Texas feel sorry for people outside of Texas. If they are from West Texas they feel sorry for the people in South Texas and vice versa.

Bill Dobler

to retain his sanity as committee chairman in view of certain developments.

Months ago, Dr. Senning asked all heads of departments in the City Hall and the County Court House to present him with an estimate of their space needs, extended over a period of years, to help his group come up with recommendations for a joint building. The request, as might have been expected, has not been complied with by all departments.

In view of this departmental lethargy, what must be Dr. Senning's and the committee's thoughts when they read of crowded conditions in the City Hall? Conditions which have forced the city to seek space outside the hall for the recreation department.

This City Hall space is needed for the city's planning engineer—now cramped into a single small room in a corner of the engineering department. To get to the planning engineer's office, the public must wander through two other offices—one of them the office of the city engineer.

The single fact that the recreation department is moving is not too significant. When the auditorium is completed, the department will move into permanent quarters there anyway. The significant thing is that the City Hall is bursting more seams and no one seems at all concerned about it.

The City Hall of late has been in a continual state of alteration. Counters are being pushed further out into corridors and door and wall arrangements are being constantly changed to squeeze out more office space.

It seems that the least that could be done is the completion of the space requirement forms so some kind of a factual determination of need can be made.

City Council members will soon be moving up in the world, at least a foot or so. The arrangement of the Council chambers is in the process of being changed. When the change is completed, the Council will be seated at elevated desks at one end of the chamber. Instead of looking down on the members seated at a floor-level table, those who appear before the Council in the future will look up to the members.

There is probably no significance in this, but it seems like a very logical thing to do. If some of the general public has never found an excuse to visit a meeting of the City Council, this might also afford them the opportunity.

It would be interesting and probably very surprising to know the number of people living in Lincoln who have never seen the Council in operation. You don't need an ax to grind to get a chair in the Council chamber.

A man with business before the Planning Commission stated at that group's last meeting that he used to have a yearning to serve on such a board but after seeing their work for the afternoon, he changed his mind. If more people saw the mass of business transacted by the Council in one afternoon, there would be a much greater appreciation of the job performed by members for their $10 a week—$10 provided they don't miss a regular meeting and $10 whether they attend one or five meetings a week.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

This is the season when Nebraska communities, particularly those in the rural areas, herald a good deed nearly every day. The ailing neighbor down the road is impressed by the fact that this is a good world after all when those living nearby join hands, and joining hands see to it that the corn is husked and cribbed between sun-up and sundown.

For the sixteenth consecutive season the three Churches of Douglas, Neb., last week combined forces to carry out the God's acre program. An estimated 1,358 bushels of corn in addition to more than $700 in cash was contributed to 1954's festival, making it the most successful of all. Proceeds from the corn and cash gifts are utilized by the three churches—Catholic, Christian and Methodist—to improve and to maintain their physical properties. Early in the spring the farmers in the Douglas community sign pledges to donate an acre of corn to the church of their choice, and better still in the spirit of the festival a remarkable degree of cooperation has developed among the church congregations. This year, as has been the practice, the farmers brought the corn to the Douglas elevator, piled it on the ground there, and then organized the annual shelling bee, climaxed with a community dinner for all those participating, an afternoon parade in which 10 floats and the Adams high school band took part, with prizes for the winners of games and contests staged on the main street of Douglas. Here's a little bit of old Nebraska blended with the new to complete a most satisfying demonstration of Nebraska faith.

Douglas Observes "God's Acre"

Who would have anticipated one short year ago that the photographers would have caught Senator Joe McCarthy shedding huge, salty, crocodile tears? But they did in proof of the old saw that the bigger they are, (in this case the think they are) the harder they fall.

A somewhat confusing week of debate in the Senate over the recommendation of the Watkins committee of censure for Senator McCarthy must have left millions of Americans with a letdown feeling. With every respect for the dignity of what has been called the greatest parliamentary body in the world, some of those participating in the early days of this debate over McCarthy's behavior unwittingly have left the impression that all which really counts in this country is the Senate itself. Have its members been humiliated? Has McCarthy held them up to public contempt? The good senators may not realize it but unless they take stock of themselves the public may get the impression that it is not important what McCarthy uses as a technique in investigating little people so long as he treats the Senate and its committees with proper deference. Of course that is not the heart of this controversy over McCarthy. Admitting that the man in his error with a seeming obsession that he and he alone knows how to combat communism has shown a disregard for his colleagues, McCarthy's chief offense has been his treatment of scores of virtually unknown individuals. They have rights as individual citizens in this country, rights which are guaranteed, and rights which are to be respected. The basic issue in the McCarthy case is the protection of the individual from abuse, not necessarily a general or a member of the United States Senate but simply plain John Q. American. It has been somewhat novel to find Senator McCarthy posing as a martyr, a man persecuted by his fellow men, a victim of misunderstanding and misrepresentation.

The halo he has under attack to draw around himself is hardly becoming.

U.S. Delegation Junks Another HST Project In United Nations

... 'Code Of Offenses' Opposed

By A. I. GOLDBERG
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.S. delegation disclosed it has junked another Truman administration project here and will oppose drafting a new international "code of offenses against peace," based on the war crimes trials at Nuremberg and Tokyo.

Charles Mahoney, U. S. delegate who is a lawyer and insurance executive in Detroit, will voice the U. S. opposition at Monday's meeting of the Assembly 60-nation Legal Committee, a delegation spokesman said.

This is the third such proposed treaty the Eisenhower administration has turned its back on. Last year Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, U. S. delegate to the Human Rights Commission, told that group the United States refused to go along with proposed treaties defining human rights. Later Secretary of State Dulles said the United States would not ratify a treaty on political rights for women.

In both cases the United States said these were rights best furnished by national example and not by trying to put them in words in a treaty. Both had been pushed by U. S. delegates during the Truman administration.

War Crimes

The United States originally asked for the draft "code of offenses against the peace and security of mankind" in 1946, when it still looked as if the World War Allies could work together.

It was to be based on the principles developed first at the Nuremberg war crimes trials against German Nazi leaders and amplified at Tokyo war crimes trials of Japanese leaders.

The U. N. General Assembly in 1947 authorized a start on the code, and the International Law Commission did preparatory drafting which has had some study from governments.

This was the first crack the Eisenhower administration delegates have had at the project, which went beyond the Nuremberg principles dealing with crimes against peace, war crimes and crimes against humanity.

Armed Bands
The proposed draft code also would include such matters as terrorism, organization of armed bands and encouragement of civil strife against another state, unlawful annexation of territory and mass extermination of peoples.

It is linked with setting up a court of international criminal jurisdiction, next on the legal committee's study program. The United States is going to oppose that idea, too, the spokesman said.

Whatever merit the ideas might have, the delegation spokesman added, it is too far ahead of the state of the world today. Countries can't even agree on how to define words and the U. N. was being asked to approve something that would be supranational law, overriding all national legal concepts, the spokesman noted.

Britain's delegate in the committee, pointing out that the committee has agreed to shelve a decision now on a definition of aggression, has already suggested that the committee also forget about the code at this session.

A Netherlands jurist, B. V. Roling, who was a judge in the Tokyo war crimes trial, has argued the code must be adopted for all the world or else Germany and Japan will feel the victors have dealt unjustly with the losers in World War II.

Final City Vote Total Hits 37,264

The official canvass and counting of absentee and disabled votes for the Nov. 2 general election boosted the record high total vote to 37,264.

The vote is a record for off-year or non-presidential elections. The past high was 36,371 votes cast at the 1950 election.

The official canvass added 797 votes, 759 of them absentee and disabled, to the previous unofficial count of 36,467. The extra votes, however, followed the same results shown in the unofficial count—a solid Republican majority in all offices.

No changes in the final outcome were made as a result of the canvass.

Income Steady

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Commerce Department announced that total personal income during the first nine months of 1954 was at the same level as in the corresponding period of last year.

Income received by individuals during the third quarter was at an annual rate of 286 billion dollars, up one billion from the first quarter, for an average of 285 billion 500 million dollars.

Hebron To Dedicate New School On Wednesday

Formal dedication of Hebron's new school will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 18th. State Superintendent of Public Instruction Freeman B. Decker will be the speaker at the event. The $385,000 structure replaces the forty-year-old high school building, destroyed in the 1953 tornado. (Photo Special To The Star.)

Nebraska City News-Press Marks 100th Year With Ike's Congratulations

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. (AP)—The Nebraska City News-Press Sunday observed its 100th anniversary. Among the congratulatory messages received by J. Hyde Sweet, long-time editor and publisher of the newspaper, was one from President Dwight Eisenhower. The letter, written Oct. 23, declared:

"I have just learned that your newspaper will be 100 years old on Nov. 14 and I am delighted to send warm congratulations to all members of your staff. In its century of publication, the Nebraska City News-Press has surely served well the people of its community and has contributed to the growth and prosperity of Nebraska. I am therefore happy indeed to join your readers in congratulating you on this significant occasion.

"You have my best wishes for the success of your newspaper throughout the years ahead." The News-Press, the first newspaper published in Nebraska, observed the occasion by issuing a Sunday edition which was the largest ever printed in Nebraska City. The centennial edition was 64 pages.

The paper noted that "just 100 years ago today Thomas Morton set the first type for the first newspaper in the state."

Nehru Is 65

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Rose petals showered Prime Minister Nehru and 60,000 children chanted greetings Sunday on the Indian leader's 65th birthday.

"Chacha Nehru zindabad—long live Uncle Nehru!" the children shouted as the Prime Minister arrived at the National Stadium. Then, dressed in different colors, they lay on the turf to spell out the name words in cheering-squad fashion. After inspecting a guard of honor Nehru released a "peace dove."

Disaster Meet Planned

SEWARD, Neb. (AP)—A disaster nursing conference under the direction of Miss Helen M. Flanagan of the American Red Cross at St. Louis is scheduled at Concordia Teachers College here Monday. Chapters in nearby counties have been invited.

A NEW DAWN-WIDE-AWAKE AND CHIPPER

AFTER so much week-end hustling and bustling it should have been a drowsy Monday morning—but it isn't. The current dawn arrived as chipper and wide awake as anything with news of guests and parties and Thanksgiving plans, plus some interesting sidelights on people you know—

WE'RE regretting the fact that

Wedding Anniversary

Celebrating their 22nd wedding anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 14, were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Vosika, who entertained a small group of guests at dinner, Sunday evening, at Lone Oak.

we won't be in Miami, Fla. on Nov. 29—the House of Delegates—the governing body of the American Medical Association will be in session then—and there, it's not that we're interested in what the House of Delegates does or doesn't do, but we should very much like to be on hand for the debate between Oveta Culp Hobby, the glamorous, tempestuous lady from Texas who now, as a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet, looks after the nation's health and such—and Edwin J. Faulkner of Lincoln. The topic for debate involves the administration's health reinsurance program which may sound dull—but it won't be. We understand that Mr. Faulkner isn't exactly worried over the outcome of the

Nov. 29 battle of wits, but was most happy that Mrs. Culp precedes him rather than follows him on the platform.

GLANCING through a San Diego paper we came across the name "Abel"—and stopped to read—It was a story on the San Diego Symphony and stated that Miss Helen Abel, among others, had been re-elected to the Symphony Association's board of directors.

of Lincoln, and the story tells that Miss Prouty has been chosen Salad Bowl Princess to represent Scottsdale High School in the competition to name a Salad Bowl Queen for the annual benefit football game at Montgomery Stadium, Phoenix, on New Year's Day. Miss Prouty is a senior at Scottsdale High School—but we hear that she is to be a freshman at the University of Nebraska next year.

SO much for our lesson on how to tour the States on a typewriter in a matter of minutes—and back to town—

the guest of Lt. Woodruff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Woodruff, and to visit his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Batten. Complimenting her daughter-in-law Mrs. Woodruff will be a luncheon hostess on Tuesday when she entertains at the Lincoln Country Club. Luncheon places will be arranged for 10. Mrs. Foster Woodruff arrived in Omaha last Monday and has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Fuchs.

HEARD, too, that Mr. and Mrs. Nate C. Holman Jr., have house guests—Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fahnestock and their daughters, Molly and Ann, who arrived from Des Plaines, Ill., to be the house guests of Mr.

and Mrs. Holman, and also to visit Mr. Fahnestock's father, Dr. G. L. Fahnestock—and their daughter, Miss Julie Fahnestock, an Alpha Chi Omega pledge at Nebraska.

LATE last week invitations were in the mail for a reception to be given by the National Society of Colonial Dames in Nebraska, and the Trustees of the Society of Liberal Arts, next Thursday evening at Joslyn Memorial in Omaha. The reception opens the new permanent exhibition, presented to Joslyn by the Colonial Dames, which includes four period interiors from the "Early West."

MUST open our guest book again—to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McVicker of Sioux City were in town for the week-end—the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McVicker.

SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leadley already have made their Thanksgiving plans—They will go to North Platte to spend the holiday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Swanson.

AND we also heard that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinsey will be leaving on Wednesday for Chicago to be on hand for Thanksgiving festivities at the home of Mrs. Kinsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Newman, formerly of Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey will return home the week-end following Thanksgiving.

BUT Lincoln is not to be without its Thanksgiving guests—Understand that Capt. and Mrs. T. J. Doyle will come from Bristol, Tenn., to celebrate the holiday with Capt. Doyle's mother, and his sister, Mrs. Rolfe Halligan.

FROM California—in time for Thanksgiving—will come Mr. and Mrs. A. Maxwell Klum of Palos Verdes Estates, who will arrive Thanksgiving morning—On the following Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Klum will take off for Toronto, Canada, but will return to Lincoln from where Mr. Klum will return to the west coast. He will, however, return to join Mrs. Klum for the Christmas holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lawrence.

The Star Welcomes

With the close of the Homecoming week-end most of the signs welcoming old grads back to the campus of their Alma Mater have disappeared—But our own sign, welcoming newcomers to Lincoln, is still as fresh as a daisy—

We put an extra coat of polish on our welcome sign this morning because we have so many new neighbors who have arrived just recently—You may not meet them all this morning, but we'll introduce as many as possible.

From Fremont have come Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Keilstrup, and perhaps it wasn't just coincidence that Mr. and Mrs. Keilstrup's new address is 5627 Fremont—At least the family should feel at home. The family, by the way, includes a son, Duane Keilstrup, who is majoring in chemistry at the University of Nebraska—and a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keilstrup, who have been Lincoln residents for some time. We hear that Mr. Keilstrup has gone into the restaurant business in Lincoln—and a little side-light on that enterprise is Mrs. Keilstrup who loves to bake—Need we say more?

Hadassah To Hear Talk

The monthly meeting of Hadassah will be held at 8:15 o'clock Monday evening, at the new Tifereth Israel Synagogue. A special address by a guest speaker will be a feature of the program.

From Berkeley, Calif., recently came Mr. and Mrs. Jack V. Shaffer to swell the ranks of permanent residents. Mr. Shaffer has joined the staff of photo-engravers at the Lincoln newspapers, and the family residence is at 4244 E St.

Prescott PTA To Hear Panel

Dr. Rudolph Fredstrom, assistant superintendent of schools in Lincoln, and Dr. Marshall Jones, director of the clinical training program at the University of Nebraska, will take part in a panel discussion on the training program in the Lincoln schools at a meeting of the Prescott PTA at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The Brides' Book Says:

Honoring Miss Winnie Lautenschlager next Wednesday evening will be Mrs. Sam Sandlovich and her daughter, Mrs. William B. Bubser, who will entertain a group of guests at the Sandlovich home. A hostess gift will be presented to Miss Lautenschlager, who will become the bride of Roger Barnard on Dec. 10.

her bridal party this morning is Miss Barbara Ann Heiser, whose marriage to Robert Butts will take place Thursday evening, Nov. 25, at the Havelock Methodist Church.

Miss Heiser's maid of honor will be her sister, Miss Patricia Heiser, and lighting the candles preceding the 8 o'clock ceremony will be Miss Carol Humphrey and Miss Gale Jeffery.

Donald Tyrrell will serve Mr. Butts as best man.

The bride-elect will be the guest of honor next Friday evening when Mrs. Clifford Butts and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Smith, will entertain at a kitchen shower to be held at the Smith home. Also included among recent courtesies for Miss Heiser was the linen shower last Friday evening for which Mrs. Leonard Barnhill was hostess at her home to a small group of guests.

Miss Janet Smith, who will become the bride of James Pavey on Dec. 24, was the incentive for a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening when Mrs. Birdie Hutsell and Mrs. W. Lee Hutsell were co-hostesses at their home. The evening was spent informally with games, and refreshments were served at a table appointed in the bridal motif.

Brides Have Church Ceremonies

MRS. ALLEN HOLMAN

MRS. ROBERT H. WHITE

The chancel of the First Methodist Church was lighted by white candles burning in seven-branched candelabra, and appointed with bouquets of white and lavender chrysanthemums, for the marriage of Miss June Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Garner, and Allen Holman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holman, on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 14. The 2 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Carl M. Davidson.

As the 175 guests assembled, Mrs. Marjorie Matson Smith presented a prelude of organ music. Mrs. Smith also played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Joan Dutton as she sang "Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Donna Scott was her sister's maid of honor and wore a waltz-length frock of net over satin in the toast shade, completed by a redingote of brown satin. She carried a cascade of gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

mums. Wearing similar ensembles of net over satin in autumn tones of pink, gold and lavender were the bridesmaids, Miss Doris Huenink, Miss Kay Wood, and Miss Nora Belle Holman, sister of the bridegroom. Their carnation nosegays were in shades to contrast with their frocks.

Miss Rosemary Svoboda, in white net and lace, was the flower girl, and lighting the candles were Miss Wilma Schneider and Miss Clara Ann Schneider. Benny Lee Garner, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

White lace and nylon tulle over satin fashioned the bride's colonial gown. A small Queen Anne collar of lace accented the off-shoulder yoke of illusion, and the sequin embroidered lace bodice was designed with long fitted sleeves. Narrow panels of the lace trimmed the full tulle skirt, which ended in a train, and her lace-edged veil of illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a cluster of white chrysanthemums centered with a purple orchid.

Mervin Holman served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Ivan L. Waples, James Ragan and Lloyd Garner. Mr. and Mrs. Holman will make their home in Lincoln.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Joan McInich of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. McInich of Brownville, and Airman 3-c Robert H. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry White of Jonesport, Me., on Saturday, Oct. 30, at East Machias, Me. The service was solemnized by the Rev. H. L. Wass in the parsonage of the East Machias Congregational Church.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beal and Mr. and Mrs. White, parents of the bridegroom, all of Jonesport.

For her wedding, the bride wore a navy blue knit ensemble with crimson accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Following a short wedding trip to New York City, Mr. White left for England where he is stationed with the Air Force. The bride will temporarily reside in Lincoln, where she is employed.

Alumnae Club Plans Program

Members of the Delta Zeta Alumnae will meet for a 6:30 o'clock dinner, Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Chapman, 3227 East Pershing Rd., when the program will feature movies to be shown by Miss Shirley Hess.

The hostess committee will include Miss Lila Belle Love, Mrs. Orville Barkley, Mrs. Charles Hinds and Mrs. George Speidel.

Guest From Minnesota

Arriving in Lincoln Monday evening will be Mrs. Maxwell Johnson of St. Paul, Minn., province president for Alpha Chi Omega, who will make an official visit this week with the active chapter of the sorority on the University of Nebraska campus. On Thursday afternoon, Mrs.

Johnson will be honored at a tea for which the active and alumnae members will be hostesses between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock at the chapter house.

Mrs. Johnson's province includes chapters in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

Has Chapel Wedding

The marriage of Miss Geraldine Ann Ampsoker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Ampsoker, and Dick Gillam, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gillam, took place Friday evening, Nov. 12, in the chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church. The service was read by Dr. Frank A. Court in the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, and Houghton Furr, organist, played the wedding music.

The matron of honor and her sister's only attendant was Mrs. Thomas Mowry who wore a dressmaker suit in navy blue with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Joseph Gillam served his brother as best man.

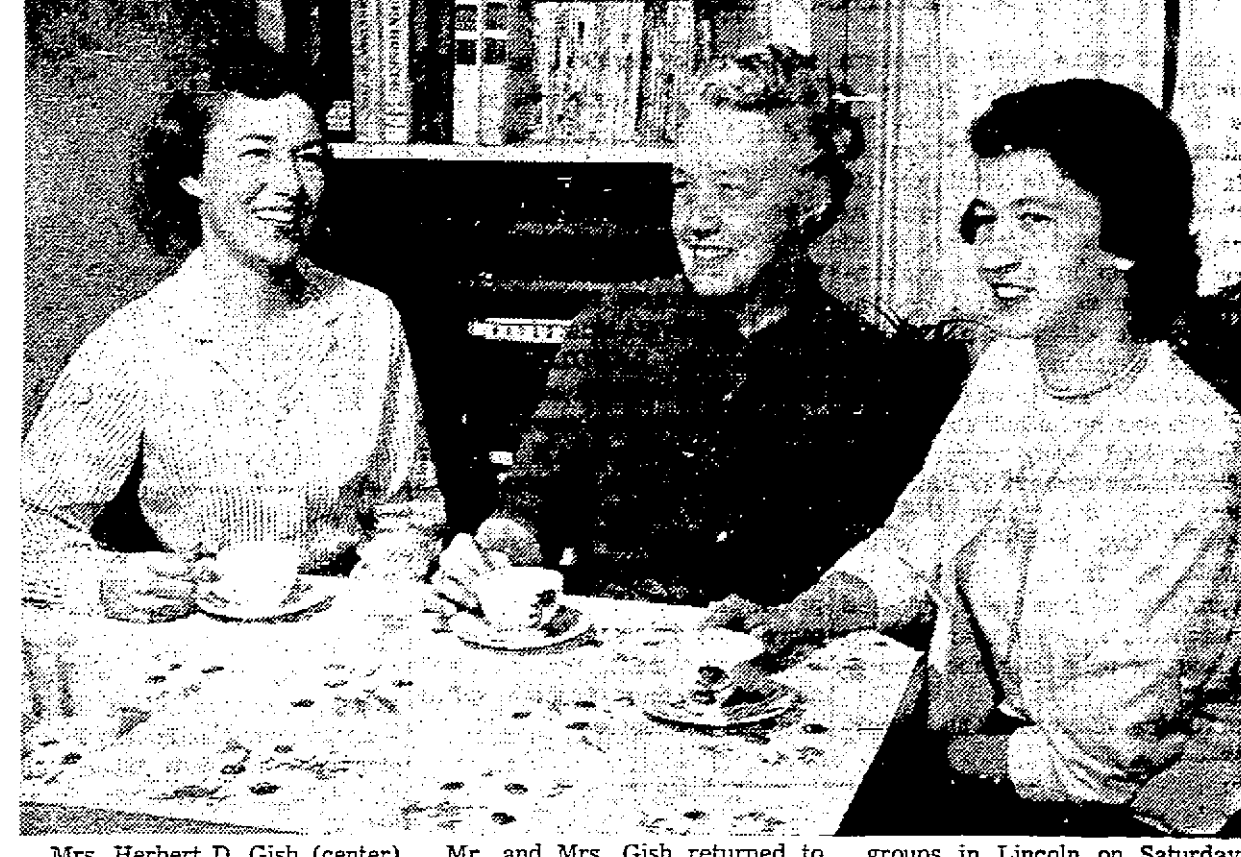

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of turquoise crystal-ette designed in the daytime mode with a short-sleeved bodice and full skirt. Her sequin-trimmed hat of white faille was briefly veiled, and she completed her ensemble with a corsage of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillam will make their home in Lincoln.

Guest Speaker

The regular meeting of the Lincoln Practical Nurses' Association will be held at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, in the Rogers room of the YWCA.

Guest speaker will be Dr. D. W. Duncan and the program will be followed by a social hour.

Mrs. Herbert D. Gish (center) and her daughter, Miss Phyllis Gish (at left), a University of Nebraska freshman, were coffee guests at the Frank B. Anderson home Sunday morning before

Mr. and Mrs. Gish returned to their home at Ft. Snelling, Minn. Mrs. Anderson (at right) is the former Mary Jo Gish. Mr. and Mrs. Gish, formerly of Lincoln, were the incentive for one of the many festive post-game dinners groups in Lincoln on Saturday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Day entertained at the University Club in courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Gish, who were their week-end house guests.

Tagtail Tidbits

Nebraskans were enjoying the lingering days of an Indian summer which seemed reluctant to drift on over an autumn hill and into the blue haze of pleasant memory . . . "Balm," one editor described it, all the while tugging restlessly at the editorial chains around his typewriter that kept him from its mellow and unseasonal benevolence . . . While the warm days were upon them, midwesterners combined a little of the grasshopper, a little of the ant . . . enjoying themselves along with preparation for the colder days ahead. And over the state, good neighbors were turning out by the legion in husking bee get-togethers for the disabled or bereaved who dwell among them . . .

Mild weather of the past few weeks has enabled farmers to near completion in the harvest labor of corn-picking. The Oakland area reports its crop 95 per cent in the bin and of good quality. Of the total acreage planted to corn in the state, 6,780,000 acres or approximately 96 per cent now embraces hybrid seed, a fact which had much to do with the tiding over of the crop through the prolonged dry days of July . . .

Furnas County nimrods were trying their trigger fingers on Wyoming's big game ranges.

Two eager Beaver Citizens got their deer, but the others in their party, by local description, "got exercise, got fresh air, got tired, and got tired of each other's cooking . . ."

McCool offers perhaps the most unusual crop story, fact and not fiction, of the year. Ernie Rich in that neighborhood has harvested a second crop of oats, and all he had to do for the second gleaming was to harvest the first. Volunteer oats sprang into being all over the 28-acre field due to abundant rainfall during the last three months . . .

And also from McCool taking part in York's street dedication ceremony Saturday were the aged team of mules belonging to Art Jacobsen. The mules, now 35 years old, are believed to be the oldest team in the state. Mr. Jacobsen has long since used mechanization in his farming operations along with other progressive growers, but turned the old mules out with the promise of green pasture and a life of ease as long as they both live. "Mr. Jacobsen may be harvesting larger crops in less time because of machinery," comments the York News-Times, "but something is missing. It is the victory of man and his animals over the rigors of the growing season."

Honoring Dr. Pool

The Kiwanis club of Lincoln has conferred its distinguished service award upon more than a score of useful Nebraskans but upon none more worthy than the recipient of 1954's medal, Dr. Raymond J. Pool, for years an outstanding teacher and faculty member of the University of Nebraska staff.

Modest man that he is, simple in habits, and shunning the spotlight Dr. Pool would be the first to brush aside attention, centered upon a career of remarkable achievement. But like the great Bessey at whose feet he sat as an undergraduate, thrilled and enthused by the prospect of a useful life in the field of forestry, scores of Dr. Pool's "boys" could testify to the inspiration he has been to them. It is that quality of inspiration which we are inclined to believe is the most valuable contribution any teacher makes to young people.

This has never been a dull world to Dr. Pool, either in its moments of agony or uncertainty or in its hours of bright promise. Its agonies and uncertainty served only to strengthen his faith and to arouse his greater activity. Its hours of serenity and bright promise held him in their magic, and filled the warm heart of a most kindly, tenderhearted, thoughtful and scholarly man with gratitude for the privilege of life. We've known Dr. Pool for many years always to admire those magnificent qualities of character he so splendidly has exemplified.

No man has had a greater devotion for Nebraska, or for the people of Nebraska. To him its hills, its woods, and its prairies have held great beauty. He is gifted with eyes which see much which escapes others of us with less sensitive perception. Never has he been happier than when opportunity permitted field trips to study the flora and the fauna of his own native state.

It might not have appealed to many of us Nebraskans but in 1920 in company with Paul B. Sears, now holding a key post on the faculty of Yale University, Dr. Pool set out on foot to cover the 70 miles of sandhill paradise stretching between Thedford and Valentine. There were no roads then, scarcely trails leading across a magnificent grazing country. The first day's walk brought him and his companion to Brownlee, a second day to Dad's Lake, nightfall on the third day found them at the Snake River Falls. In all those 70 miles of tramping under the refreshing qualities of a spring sun consumed five days.

Still another overland trip, a solitary tramp during which man might reflect upon the glory of the universe, took him from Oskosh across Garden county to Ellsworth.

In the course of those field trips to the Nebraska sand hills and to other parts of Nebraska Dr. Pool found 200 distinct species of grass growing here in Nebraska. It was his privilege during brief interludes to participate in the development of the Halsey forest, and in the more mature years pursue botanical studies of supreme importance in other parts of the United States.

Dr. Pool is and can be grateful for a fascinating life, crowned with many honors, among them the Kiwanis distinguished service award.

The Most Blessed

In every city and hamlet Americans last week paused to observe Veterans day in remembrance of men who have served and died so that their country with its great humanitarian principles might live. A living and constantly improving country is proof of how well those men have served.

But this year there was an added feature. The day became the time for the naturalization of those who were not born Americans but who have become brethren under the flag by their own petition. Over the nation 50,000 raised their hand to swear allegiance and to die, if necessary, for a flag that represents freedom, liberty, democracy and a way of life that time has proved to be incomparable.

Needless to say they are happy people. Most of them had had the experience of the displaced, had known the melancholy pangs of hardship, of fear and privation. They had lived the life of the harried and the unfree. The oath of allegiance was a deliverance for them.

Native Americans with all of their privileged experiences cannot have it all. They received their blessings by inheritance and while they cherish their country they will ever be denied the sweet experience that comes to those who have suffered and have hoped and one day received the bright deliverance that America can give.

All of us welcome those 50,000 new citizens and must confess that we also envy them a little for their fuller experience.

Forest Service At Odds With Benson

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Interior "Generous" Doug McKay isn't the only member of Ike's cabinet who seems interested in granting commercial concessions in our national forests.

Another is Ezra Benson. As secretary of agriculture, Benson is head of the forest service; and, if he followed tradition, he wouldn't interfere with decisions of career national foresters. But he has broken the time-honored practice of his office and refused to accept a forest-service veto of an application to strip-mine in the Cumberland National Forest in Kentucky.

Benson has been warned that not only would lovely forestland be made barren if he overrules the forest service and allows strip-mining, but the unpolluted watersheds would be filled with poisonous by-products of surface coal mining. Also, Benson has been told, the land will be disfigured and made worthless by erosion if the trees are cut down.

Benson hasn't made his final decision yet. Says he wants to appoint a committee to decide whether to submit to the wishes of Stearns Coal and Lumber Co. of Stearns, Ky. This makes him the first secretary of agriculture in history to refuse to back up the forest service.

NEW SUPREME COURT JUDGE

If Judge John Marshall Harlan is anything like his grandfather, President Eisenhower has picked an A-1 new justice for the Supreme Court.

His grandfather, appointed to the Supreme Court in 1877, was a julep-drinking Kentuckian, who owned slaves himself, but battled for the cause of the Negro both as a member of the Union Army and on the Supreme Court.

It was Justice Harlan who wrote the ringing dissent in the first segregation case to come before the Court after the Civil War, a case which marked the death of the Fourteenth Amendment as far as Negroes were concerned—until just recently.

That case—U.S. vs. Harris—was decided in 1883. Congress had passed an act authored by Sen. Sumner of Massachusetts giving equal privileges to Negroes in

"inns, public conveyances and theaters." But a majority of the court, though then dominated by Northerners, held the act unconstitutional. It buried the Fourteenth Amendment for 70 years, and a Northerner, Justice Bradley of New Jersey, wrote the majority opinion.

And it was a former slave owner, Justice Harlan of Kentucky, who wrote a burning dissent against his Northern colleagues who had fought a war to free the Negroes and then withdrew that freedom.

"Constitutional provisions," wrote Justice Harlan, "adopted in the interest of liberty, and for the purpose of securing liberty . . . have been so construed as to defeat the ends the people desired to accomplish, and which they supposed they had accomplished by changes in their fundamental law . . ."

"It is for Congress, not the judiciary, to say what legislation is appropriate. . . . The judiciary may not, with safety to our institutions, enter the domain of legislative discretion and dictate the means which Congress shall employ in the exercise of its granted power."

"The right of a colored person to use an improved highway upon the terms accorded to free men of other races, is as fundamental in the state of freedom established in this country, as are the rights which my brethren concede to be so far fundamental as to be deemed the essence of civil liberty."

Despite that dissent, Justice Harlan's brethren continued to make a mockery of the original intent of the Fourteenth Amendment, while Harlan continued to write opinions championing the rights of little people. It was he who supported the constitutionality of the income tax when it was first thrown out by the Supreme Court. And it was he who wrote the Northern Securities Company opinion putting railroads under the jurisdiction of the antitrust laws.

The new Supreme Court justice is a New York corporation lawyer. But if he's anything like his grandfather he will be an important addition to the court.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Lattimore Used In GOP Campaign

Editor's Note: This is another in the series of Marquis Childs' articles that trace history and appraise the significance of the Owen Lattimore case.)

WASHINGTON — On the eve of the Congressional election campaign the Eisenhower Administration made the Owen Lattimore case an issue by returning a second indictment of Lattimore and then in October by charging Federal Judge Luther Youngdahl with prejudice.

This became a major test in at least one state, and in view of the one-vote margin it could have determined which party controlled the Senate and the all-important committee chairmanships.

After he was defeated for the senate in 1952, Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Democrat of Wyoming, opened a private law office in Washington, following the custom of so many former members of Congress. He took several clients, among them Lattimore, who also had as counsel the firm of Arnold, Fortas and Porter. The latter had contributed their services in defending Lattimore through a series of Senate hearings and in the legal arguments over the first indictment the key counts of which were thrown out.

O'Mahoney had an active part in the challenge of the first indictment for its vagueness in accusing Lattimore of perjury when he denied he was a "sympathizer" with Communism or a "promoter" of Communist interests.

After the suicide of Sen. Lester Hunt (D-Wyo.), who had been harassed by Republican leaders with the threat that a family tragedy would be used against him, O'Mahoney decided to run again.

In his campaign he quickly discovered that the opposition with large resources of money was exploiting his connection with Lattimore to the fullest in full-page newspaper ads and on the radio. This was linked with another lawyer-client relationship of O'Mahoney's two years in private practice. He had taken a retainer from the United States Cuban Sugar Corporation, owned by American citizens operating in Cuba.

Because this was technically a foreign company, even though O'Mahoney felt he should comply with the law requiring representatives of foreign companies to register with the Department of Justice.

In the campaign attack O'Mahoney was called "Foreign Agent 783," the number being his registration number in the Department of Justice. In the same ads "Foreign Agent 783" was shown as the paid attorney of Lattimore who had been called the "top Soviet espionage agent" by Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

O'Mahoney made a dignified and straightforward reply. He said he had not accepted Lattimore as a client until he had carefully studied the case and convinced himself of Lattimore's innocence.

He pointed out it is a basic tenet of Anglo-Saxon law that a man is presumed innocent until proved guilty and that in a fair trial the citizen is entitled to the best legal services he can obtain.

He called attention to the emphasis put on this in a resolution adopted by the American Bar Association in 1953. That resolution said no matter how controversial the individual, he was entitled to a lawyer to defend him, and that lawyer should not be condemned for taking the unpopular side of a case involving intense feelings.

When O'Mahoney returns to Washington he intends to press an investigation of whether the American Bar Association meant what it said in the 1953 resolution.

While this may not be a formal congressional investigation, there is already underway still one more investigation into the Lattimore case. At the urging of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.), Sen. William E. Langer (R-ND), has ordered an inquiry into the unprecedented charge of prejudice leveled against Judge Youngdahl.

This conceivably could be widened to an inquiry into the way in which the power of prosecution of the Department of Justice has been used for political purposes.

After the scandals in the Department of Justice were uncovered in the Harding Administration in which the power of prosecution 30 years ago, Calvin Coolidge named the late Harlan Fiske Stone, then a Columbia University law professor, as attorney general.

Without regard to where the praise or blame might fall, Stone with complete impartiality cleaned up the department and restored faith in the process of justice.

There were many who had hoped this would be a precedent for the Eisenhower Administration. But an increasing number of critics have accused Attorney General Herbert Brownell of playing politics with the power of prosecution.

Among the many editorials condemning the Administration for against Youngdahl was one in the Milwaukee Journal which concluded:

"A theory has been advanced, and the evidence seems to grow, that under this Administration the Justice Department is replacing the Post Office Department as the political vehicle of the party in power. It is not a pretty picture."

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

No Leaf-Burning In The Streets

Despite the late date, the city has yet made no announcement of a leaf program but there are several things that are taken for granted without any announcement.

One of these is the fact that leaves should not be burned in the street. Burning leaves are harder on street pavement than years of automobile traffic.

The heat cracks and breaks up the paving, leaving holes to be enlarged in the months ahead by the elements of winter. With the arrival of spring, the results of leaf burning will be seen in large holes along the edge of the paving.

Another self-evident point is that regardless of whether the city permits leaves to be raked into the gutters, other yard rubbish is no city problem. The city might take it upon itself to clean up all leaves in gutters but Street Superintendent Lynn Myers wants no part of dead garden plants, tin cans, tree limbs and other fall leftovers.

Those people with power mowers have an easy solution to their leaf disposal problem. The mower will chop the leaves into a fine mulch that serves as a good winter protection and fertilizer to lawns.

Dr. John P. Senning, chairman of the joint city-county building advisory committee, must be a patient man. He would have to be

Magic Of The Autumn Flight

A flock of ducks went over last night. We were in the back yard, and it was just dusk when we looked up and saw them. They were little black outlines against the darkening blue, in a long ragged line that seemed to wave gently up and down, as if a breeze were blowing on it.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

Speaking of fearful journalism, I speak only highly of Texas. Mighty nice state. Mighty big state.

Once I made a small purchase in Joskes in San Antonio. Mighty pretty girl behind the counter. She said:

"Hurry back now, hear?"

Said to her: "Say which, ma'am?"

She said: "Come back right soon."

Thought I had made plenty numbers with it. I might be a mighty pretty girl. Turned out I was mighty mistaken. All people in Texas talk like that.

Well, that is not what I started to say. I was reminded of Texas by Mr. George Dixon, the Washington journalist. And I assume by the time this reaches print George will know more about Texas than he did a few days ago.

Mr. Dixon has printed a piece saying that Texan birth certificates are no good if you want a passport.

This is mighty interesting to me. My own heiress was born in Corpus Christi some 11 years ago. She has a passport. But I think I got it for her. So maybe that doesn't count.

Anyway, there will be some great cries of rage when this news reaches the Lone Star state. And I wish to establish my position before the fur flies.

My position is this: I think Texas should issue its own passports.

You cannot travel through Texas without learning a good deal about it. Mainly because it takes so long to travel through.

When my daughter was five, I left her in Texas while I was in Mexico. When I came back she was riding a spreader with a Mexican ranch hand. She was asking for "leche" instead of milk at the table. And she spoke highly of frijoles. She was talking Texan to the point I needed an interpreter.

"I don't want to go home," she said. "I want to stay here with mah kin folks."

She still says "caow" for cow. And it fairly makes my blood boil that she is a little patronizing because I was born in Illinois.

"Where they give you a passport on your birth certificate, smarty," I said.

She has a nervous giggle when she says: "Are you truly a Yankee?" A little as though she were asking if I had the itch.

Despite this affliction, I speak highly of Texas. Once when Mr. Jesse Jones was running the RFC he bought me a drink in the Rice hotel in Houston. I have thought highly of Texas ever since. For it is very hard to come by schnapps in Texas.

McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

to retain his sanity as committee chairman in view of certain developments.

Months ago, Dr. Senning asked all heads of departments in the City Hall and the County Court House to present him with an estimate of their space needs, extended over a period of years, to help his group come up with recommendations for a joint building. The request, as might have been expected, has not been complied with by all departments.

In view of this departmental lethargy, what must be Dr. Senning's and the committee's thoughts when they read of crowded conditions in the City Hall? Conditions which have forced the city to seek space outside the hall for the recreation department.

This City Hall space is needed for the city's planning engineer—now cramped into a single small room in a corner of the engineering department. To get to the planning engineer's office, the public must wander through two other offices—one of them the office of the city engineer.

The single fact that the recreation department is moving is not too significant. When the auditorium is completed, the department will move into permanent quarters there anyway. The significant thing is that the City Hall is bursting more seams and no one seems at all concerned about it.

The City Hall of late has been in a continual state of alteration. Counters are being pushed further out into corridors and door and wall arrangements are being constantly changed to squeeze out more office space.

It seems that the least that could be done is the completion of the space requirement forms so some kind of a factual determination of need can be made.

City Council members will soon be moving up in the world, at least a foot or so. The arrangement of the Council chambers is in the process of being changed.

When the change is completed, the Council will be seated at elevated desks at one end of the chamber. Instead of looking down on the members seated at a floor-level table, those who appear before the Council in the future will look up to the members.

There is probably no significance in this, but it seems like a very logical thing to do. If some of the general public has never found an excuse to visit a meeting of the City Council, this might also afford them the opportunity.

It would be interesting and probably very surprising to know the number of people living in Lincoln who have never seen the Council in operation. You don't need an ax to grind to get a chair in the Council chamber.

A man with business before the Planning Commission stated at that group's last meeting that he used to have a yearning to serve on such a board but after seeing their work for the afternoon, he changed his mind. If more people saw the mass of business transacted by the Council in one afternoon, there would be a much greater appreciation of the job performed by members for their $10 a week—$10 provided they don't miss a regular meeting and $10 whether they attend one or five meetings a week.

"There they are," said Lee, my son, and I said, "yes, there they are."

No other word was spoken. We watched them until they merged in the southern sky. Then we went inside.

I know there are people to whom ducks against a fall sky mean nothing special. They are the city ones who have never tramped the marshes and seen the evening mists curling up from the low places, nor breathing the tang of dawn frost on a river bank when the world was waking up. These things we have done together, Lee and I, since before he can remember, o that for us there is a magic in wild ducks flying which nothing else holds.

We went inside, and Lee told his mother, "A line of ducks went over." Mrs. F. smiled, as women whose men have a streak of the wilderness in them probably have smiled since the beginning of time.

"I suppose you'll be out in the fields soon, you two," she said.

"The water's higher in Mr. Rohrer's lake this year," Lee answered. "We'll have to move the blinds, and maybe we can put out our new decoys to see how they work."

"And if the ducks come in," I added, grinning, "you'll want to sit there all day listening to them, just to learn how they talk."

"So will you," he retorted, grinning back.

Brused Dignity Of Senate

Who would have anticipated one short year ago that the photographers would have caught Senator Joe McCarthy shedding huge, salty, crocodile tears? But they did in proof of the old saw that the bigger they are, (in this case they think they are) the harder they fall.

A somewhat confusing week of debate in the Senate over the recommendation of the Watkins committee of censure for Senator McCarthy must have left millions of Americans with a letdown feeling. With every respect for the dignity of what has been called the greatest parliamentary body in the world, some of those participating in the early days of this debate over McCarthy's behavior unwittingly have left the impression that all which really counts in this country is the Senate itself. Have its members been humiliated? Has McCarthy held them up to public contempt? The good senators may not realize it but unless they take stock of themselves the public may get the impression that it is not important what McCarthy uses as a technique in investigating little people so long as he treats the Senate and its committees with proper deference. Of course that is not the heart of this controversy over McCarthy. Admitting that the man in his arrogance with a seeming obsession that he and he alone knows how to combat communism has shown a disregard for his colleagues, McCarthy's chief offense has been his treatment of scores of virtually unknown individuals. They have rights as individual citizens in this country, rights which are guaranteed, and rights which are to be respected. The basic issue in the McCarthy case is the protection of the individual from abuse, not necessarily a general or a member of the United States Senate but simply plain John Q. American. It has been somewhat novel to find Senator McCarthy posing as a martyr, a man persecuted by his fellow men, a victim of misunderstanding and misrepresentation.

Lanolin Plus Can Make Any Skin Softer, Smoother and Younger-Looking Overnight

If you are young, you will have a smoother, softer, easier-to-make-up skin overnight. If you are older, you will lose all skin dryness overnight—never to return again as long as you keep up this delightful treatment. Your lines and “Crow’s Feet” will soften and fade. Your make-up, too, over your new, smoother skin, will then give you a more youthful look.

One of the most significant moments of any woman’s life occurs the day she looks into her mirror to see a tiny network of lines beginning to etch its way into her precious complexion. Those little lines tell her, as nothing else can, that the firm, supple skin of her youth is giving way to the dry, not-so-attractive complexion of an added year.

Time was, when such knowledge brought either panic or quiet resignation. Today, it’s a different story. For with the progress of science, a way has at last been found to postpone the arrival of age-lines indefinitely, or to alleviate age signs that have already begun to form.

A “Miracle” Solution Is Discovered

It all began with a modern study of skin. What makes it so silky? What makes it lose that envied quality? Scientists discovered that in youth, certain softening substances, known as cholesterol esters, are found in the skin in adequate abundance. But as years roll on, nature more often than not becomes sluggish. Fewer of these important youth-keeping elements are manufactured by the body. And even worse . . . a frightening amount of lubricants are stolen away from the skin every day by wind, water, weather. Little wonder the complexion becomes dry and parched . . . a regular nesting place for ugly lines and “crow’s feet”!

Having discovered an important cause of dry skin and its sad results, science set about to find relief. A solution was finally discovered that not only contained pure lanolin with its abundance of youthifying cholesterol esters . . . but which presented those substances in a way that would penetrate skin of any age. Known as LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, this solution actually improves complexion overnight because it penetrates. It smooths the surface, then penetrates, to supply the skin with needed lubricants. Dryness noticeably diminishes. A fresh, moist look appears. And as the skin becomes more silky and supple with continued treatment, “crow’s feet” and other lines become softer and less noticeable.

The Time Is Now...No Matter What Your Age!

If your skin is still young and soft-textured, now is the time to protect that beauty . . . to help keep that youthful glow indefinitely. Nightly applications of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid offer a new supply of the lubricants lost daily . . . postpone indefinitely the onset of dry skin with its disfiguring lines. And in the meantime, this skin-loving lubricant brings new dewy freshness to even the youngest of skins!

If You Are 30 Or Older

If tiny lines have just begun to trace themselves around your eyes, mouth . . . on your forehead, don't let them make further headway! LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, applied nightly, and used as a powder base during the day—keeps your complexion in constant contact with these valuable lubricating cholesterol esters.

Older skins, too, are vastly improved by conscientious daily applications of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid. This softening substance helps prevent aging lines and “crow’s feet” from etching themselves deeply into the complexion. Instead, as the skin becomes smoother and more elastic looking, lines seem to blend into the general softness . . . become delicate accents instead of harsh delineations.

How To Reap the Greatest Benefits From Amazing Lanolin Plus Liquid

Use the pleasant lemon-colored liquid tonight, to remove every speck of make-up. LANOLIN PLUS Liquid actually penetrates the pores, helps flush out stale cosmetics. Then massage a few drops of Liquid into your skin just before retiring. Blot off excess. Your skin will feel dewy-smooth as a baby's.

A few drops of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, used as a make-up base, keeps your complexion in contact with beneficial cholesterol esters all day long. And its invisible film protects your skin from drying air and rough, wintry weather.

Warmed slightly, this penetrating solution is excellent as a facial . . . makes the skin tingle with warmth and smooth-skinned freshness.

But no matter when and how you use it, do pamper your skin with LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, beginning tonight. Your complexion will be improved next morning after the very first nightly application. You'll actually SEE and FEEL this improvement. Keep it up. In almost no time at all, find your friends green with envy over your new looks. Only a dollar plus tax wherever cosmetics are sold.

A NEW DAWN--WIDE-AWAKE AND CHIPPER

AFTER so much week-end hustling and bustling it should have been a drowsy Monday morning—but it isn't! The current dawn arrived as chipper and wide awake as anything with news of guests and parties and Thanksgiving plans, plus some interesting sidelights on people you know—

WE'RE regretting the fact that

Wedding Anniversary

Celebrating their 22nd wedding anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 14, were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Vosika, who entertained a small group of guests at dinner, Sunday evening, at Lone Oak.

we won't be in Miami, Fla. on Nov. 29—the House of Delegates—the governing body of the American Medical Association will be in session then—and there. It's not that we're interested in what the House of Delegates does or doesn't do, but we should very much like to be on hand for the debate between Oveta Culp Hobby, the glamorous, tempestuous lady from Texas who now, as a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet, looks after the nation's health and such—and Edwin J. Faulkner of Lincoln. The topic for debate involves the administration's health reinsurance program which may sound dull—but it won't be. We understand that Mr. Faulkner isn't exactly worried over the outcome of the

Nov. 29 battle of wits, but was most happy that Mrs. Culp precedes him rather than follows him on the platform.

GLANCING through a San Diego paper we came across the name "Abel"—and stopped to read—It was a story on the San Diego Symphony and stated that Miss Helen Abel, among others, had been re-elected to the Symphony Association's board of directors.

AND since we seem to be touring the country this morning thought you might like to hear some news from Scottsdale (suburb of Phoenix), Ariz. A Phoenix newspaper has a picture of Miss Pat Prouty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prouty of Scottsdale, formerly of Lincoln, and the story tells us that Miss Prouty has been chosen Salad Bowl Princess to represent Scottsdale High School in the competition to name a Salad Bowl Queen for the annual benefit football game at Montgomery Stadium, Phoenix, on New Year's Day.

Miss Prouty is a senior at Scottsdale High School—but we hear that she is to be a freshman at the University of Nebraska next year.

SO much for our lesson on how to tour the States on a typewriter in a matter of minutes—and back to town—

Learned that Mrs. Foster Woodruff arrived from El Paso, Tex. (via Omaha) on Sunday to spend a few days as the guest of Lt. Woodruff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Woodruff, and to visit his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Batten.

Complimenting her daughter-in-law Mrs. Woodruff will be a luncheon hostess on Tuesday when she entertains at the Lincoln Country Club. Luncheon places will be arranged for 10.

Mrs. Foster Woodruff arrived in Omaha last Monday and has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Fuchs.

HEARD, too, that Mr. and Mrs. Nate C. Holman Jr., have house guests—Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fahnestock and their daughters, Molly and Ann, who arrived from DesPlaines, Ill., to be the house guests of Mr.

and Mrs. Holman, and also to visit Mr. Fahnestock's father, Dr. G. L. Fahnestock—and their daughter, Miss Julie Fahnestock, an Alpha Chi Omega pledge at Nebraska.

LATE last week invitations were in the mail for a reception to be given by the National Society of Colonial Dames in Nebraska, and the Trustees of the Society of Liberal Arts, next Thursday evening, at Joslyn Memorial in Omaha. The reception opens the new permanent exhibition, presented to Joslyn by the Colonial Dames, which includes four period interiors from the "Early West."

MUST open our guest book again—to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McVicker of Sioux City were in town for the week-end—the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McVicker.

SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leadley already have made their Thanksgiving plans—They will go to North Platte to spend the holiday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Swanson.

AND we also heard that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinsey will be leaving on Wednesday for Chicago to be on hand for Thanksgiving festivities at the home of Mrs. Kinsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Newman, formerly of Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey will return home the week-end following Thanksgiving.

BUT Lincoln is not to be without its Thanksgiving guests—Understand that Capt. and Mrs. T. J. Doyle will come from Bristol, Tenn., to celebrate the holiday with Capt. Doyle's mother, and his sister, Mrs. Rolfe Halligan.

FROM California—in time for Thanksgiving—will come Mr. and Mrs. A. Maxwell Klum of Palos Verdes Estates, who will arrive Thanksgiving morning—On the following Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Klum will take off for Toronto, Canada, but will return to Lincoln from where Mr. Klum will return to the west coast. He will, however, return to join Mrs. Klum for the Christmas holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lawrence.

The Star Welcomes

With the close of the Homecoming week-end most of the signs welcoming old grads back to the campus of their Alma Mater have disappeared—But our own sign, welcoming newcomers to Lincoln, is still as fresh as a daisy—

We put an extra coat of polish on our welcome sign this morning because we have so many new neighbors who have arrived just recently—You may not meet them all this morning, but we'll introduce as many as possible.

From Fremont have come Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Keilstrup, and perhaps it wasn't just coincidence that Mr. and Mrs. Keilstrup's new address is 5627 Fremont—At least the family should feel at home. The family, by the way, includes a son, Duane Keilstrup, who is majoring in chemistry at the University of Nebraska—and a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keilstrup, who have been Lincoln residents for some time. We hear that Mr. Keilstrup has gone into the restaurant business in Lincoln—and a little side-light on that enterprise is Mrs. Keilstrup who loves to bake—Need we say more?

Hadassah To Hear Talk

The monthly meeting of Hadassah will be held at 8:15 o'clock Monday evening, at the new Tifereth Israel Synagogue. A special address by a guest speaker will be a feature of the program.

From Berkeley, Calif., recently came Mr. and Mrs. Jack V. Shaffer to swell the ranks of permanent residents. Mr. Shaffer has joined the staff of photo-engravers at the Lincoln newspapers, and the family residence is at 4244 E St.

Prescott PTA To Hear Panel

Dr. Rudolph Fredstrom, assistant superintendent of schools in Lincoln, and Dr. Marshall Jones, director of the clinical training program at the University of Nebraska, will take part in a panel discussion on the training program in the Lincoln schools at a meeting of the Prescott PTA at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The Brides' Book Says:

Honoring Miss Winnie Lautenschlager next Wednesday evening will be Mrs. Sam Sandlovich and her daughter, Mrs. William B. Bubser, who will entertain a group of guests at the Sandlovich home. A hostess gift will be presented to Miss Lautenschlager, who will become the bride of Roger Barnard on Dec. 10.

Miss Janet Smith, who will become the bride of James Pavey on Dec. 24, was the incentive for a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening when Mrs. Birdie Hutsell and Mrs. W. Lee Hutsell were co-hostesses at their home. The evening was spent informally with games, and refreshments were served at a table appointed in the bridal motif.

Brides Have Church Ceremonies

MRS. ALLEN HOLMAN

MRS. ROBERT H. WHITE

The chancel of the First Methodist Church was lighted by white candles burning in seven-branched candelabra, and appointed with bouquets of white and lavender chrysanthemums, for the marriage of Miss June Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Garner, and Allen Holman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holman, on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 14. The 2 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Carl M. Davidson.

As the 175 guests assembled, Mrs. Marjorie Matson Smith presented a prelude of organ music. Mrs. Smith also played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Joan Dutton as she sang "Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Donna Scott was her sister's maid of honor and wore a waltz-length frock of net over satin in the toast shade, completed by a redingote of brown satin. She carried a cascade of gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

mums. Wearing similar ensembles of net over satin in autumn tones of pink, gold and lavender were the bridesmaids, Miss Doris Huenink, Miss Kay Wood and Miss Nora Belle Holman, sister of the bridegroom. Their carnation nosegays were in shades to contrast with their frocks.

Miss Rosemary Svoboda, in white net and lace, was the flower girl, and lighting the candles were Miss Wilma Schneider and Miss Clara Ann Schneider. Benny Lee Garner, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

White lace and nylon tulle over satin fashioned the bride's colonial gown. A small Queen Anne collar of lace accented the off-shoulder yoke of illusion, and the sequin embroidered lace bodice was designed with long fitted sleeves. Narrow panels of the lace trimmed the full tulle skirt, which ended in a train, and her lace-edged veil of illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a cluster of white chrysanthemums centered with a purple orchid.

Mervin Holman served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Ivan L. Waples, James Ragan and Lloyd Garner. Mr. and Mrs. Holman will make their home in Lincoln.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Joan McIninch of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. McIninch of Brownville, and Airman 3-c Robert H. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry White of Jonesport, Me., on Saturday, Oct. 30, at East Machias, Me. The service was solemnized by the Rev. H. L. Wass in the parsonage of the East Machias Congregational Church.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beal and Mr. and Mrs. White, parents of the bridegroom, all of Jonesport.

For her wedding, the bride wore a navy blue knit ensemble with crimson accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Following a short wedding trip to New York City, Mr. White left for England where he is stationed with the Air Force. The bride will temporarily reside in Lincoln, where she is employed.

Alumnae Club Plans Program

Members of the Delta Zeta Alumnae will meet for a 6:30 o'clock dinner, Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Chapman, 3227 East Pershing Rd., when the program will feature movies to be shown by Miss Shirley Hess.

The hostess committee will include Miss Lila Belle Love, Mrs. Orville Barkley, Mrs. Charles Hinds and Mrs. George Speidel.

Guest From Minnesota

Arriving in Lincoln Monday evening will be Mrs. Maxwell Johnson of St. Paul, Minn., province president for Alpha Chi Omega, who will make an official visit this week with the active chapter of the sorority on the University of Nebraska campus. On Thursday afternoon, Mrs.

Johnson will be honored at a tea for which the active and alumnae members will be hostesses between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock at the chapter house.

Mrs. Johnson's province includes chapters in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

Has Chapel Wedding

The marriage of Miss Geraldine Ann Ampsper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Ampsper, and Dick Gillam, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gillam, took place Friday evening, Nov. 12, in the chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church. The service was read by Dr. Frank A. Court in the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, and Houghton Furr, organist, played the wedding music.

The matron of honor and her sister's only attendant was Mrs. Thomas Mowry who wore a dressmaker suit in navy blue with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Joseph Gillam served his brother as best man.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of turquoise crystal-ette designed in the daytime mode with a short-sleeved bodice and full skirt. Her sequin-trimmed hat of white faille was briefly veiled, and she completed her ensemble with a corsage of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillam will make their home in Lincoln.

Guest Speaker

The regular meeting of the Lincoln Practical Nurses' Association will be held at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, in the Rogers room of the YWCA.

Guest speaker will be Dr. D. W. Duncan and the program will be followed by a social hour.

Mrs. Herbert D. Gish (center) and her daughter, Miss Phyllis Gish (at left), a University of Nebraska freshman, were coffee guests at the Frank B. Anderson home Sunday morning before

Mr. and Mrs. Gish returned to their home at Ft. Snelling, Minn. Mrs. Anderson (at right) is the former Mary Jo Gish. Mr. and Mrs. Gish, formerly of Lincoln, were the incentive for one of the many festive post-game dinner groups in Lincoln on Saturday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Day entertained at the University Club in courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Gish, who were their week end house guests.

Lanolin Plus Can Make Any Skin Softer, Smoother and Younger-Looking Overnight

If you are young, you will have a smoother, softer, easier-to-make-up skin overnight. If you are older, you will lose all skin dryness overnight—never to return again as long as you keep up this delightful treatment. Your lines and "Crow's Feet" will soften and fade. Your make-up, too, over your new, smoother skin, will then give you a more youthful look.

One of the most significant moments of any woman's life occurs the day she looks into her mirror to see a tiny network of lines beginning to etch its way into her precious complexion. Those little lines tell her, as nothing else can, that the firm, supple skin of her youth is giving way to the dry, not-so-attractive complexion of an added year.

Time was, when such knowledge brought either panic or quiet resignation. Today, it's a different story. For with the progress of science, a way has at last been found to postpone the arrival of age-lines indefinitely, or to alleviate age signs that have already begun to form.

A "Miracle" Solution Is Discovered

It all began with a modern study of skin. What makes it softly silken? What makes it lose that envied quality? Scientists discovered that in youth, certain softening substances, known as cholesterols and esters, are found in the skin in adequate abundance. But as years roll on, nature more often than not becomes sluggish. Fewer of these important youth-keeping elements are manufactured by the body. And even worse . . . a frightening amount of lubricants are stolen away from the skin every day by wind, water, weather. Little wonder the complexion becomes dry and parched . . . a regular nesting place for ugly lines and "crow's feet!"

Having discovered an important cause of dry skin and its sad results, science set about to find relief. A solution was finally discovered that not only contained pure lanolin with its abundance of youthifying cholesterols and esters . . . but which presented those substances in a way that would penetrate skin of any age. Known as LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, this solution actually improves complexions overnight because it penetrates. It smooths the surface, then penetrates, to supply the skin with needed lubricants. Dryness noticeably diminishes. A fresh, moist look appears. And as the skin becomes more silky and supple with continued treatment, "crow's feet" and other lines become softer and less noticeable.

The Time Is Now...No Matter What Your Age!

If your skin is still young and soft-textured, now is the time to protect that beauty . . . to help keep that youthful glow indefinitely. Nightly applications of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid offer a new supply of the lubricants lost daily . . . postpone indefinitely the onset of dry skin with its disfiguring lines. And in the meantime, this skin-loving lubricant brings new dewy freshness to even the youngest of skins!

If You Are 30 Or Older

If tiny lines have just begun to trace themselves around your eyes, mouth . . . on your forehead, don't let them make further headway! LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, applied nightly, and used as a powder base during the day—keeps your complexion in constant contact with these valuable lubricating cholesterols and esters.

Older skins, too, are vastly improved by conscientious daily applications of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid. This softening substance helps prevent aging lines and "crow's feet" from etching themselves deeply into the complexion. Instead, as the skin becomes smoother and more elastic looking, lines seem to blend into the general softness . . . become delicate accents instead of harsh delineations.

A few drops of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, used as a make-up base, keeps your complexion in contact with beneficial cholesterols and esters all day long. And its invisible film protects your skin from drying air and rough, wintry weather.

Warmed slightly, this penetrating solution is excellent as

Ten Preps End Season Sans Defeat

Ten 11-man football teams in Nebraska completed the prep season undefeated.

Chadron High, Creighton Prep, Seward and Tekamah completed their schedules last week. The other six had finished earlier.

Seward was tied by Ord 0-0. Creighton Prep beat Boys Town 12-7. Chadron High defeated Crawford 33-6 and Tekamah beat Blair 14-6.

Lincoln High won the offensive title with 387 points in nine games. The Lincoln 43-point per game average also was best.

Guide Rock won the defensive title with a 2.3 point average per game.

Lincoln, Creighton Prep and Falls City are Class A teams. Chadron High, Holy Name, Seward and Tekamah are Class B schools.

Callaway, Guide Rock and Ponca are from Class C.

Carter Picked To Win Back Lost Crown

By The Associated Press
Impatient Jimmy Carter finally gets his return shot at lightweight champion Paddy De Marco in a television title fight at San Francisco's Cow Palace Wednesday night.

The twice-postponed affair is scheduled for 15 rounds, starting at 9 p.m., CST (CBS-TV) with the 30-year old Carter an 11-5 favorite to regain the crown. He lost it to the 26-year old Brooklynite in New York last March 5.

Originally scheduled for June 2 and then Sept. 22, the postponements were forced by a virus infection and an elbow injury, both suffered by De Marco. Carter is hoping that the champ will be in the best of health until fight time.

While De Marco has been mending, Carter has been busy. The solid, hard-hitting New Yorker stopped Charley Riley in two rounds and outpointed Glen Flanagan (Aug. 5) and Freddie Herman (Sept. 22).

In wrestling the crown from Carter by a 15-round decision, the bustling De Marco gave Jimmy a sound boxing lesson. Carter tried to take Paddy out with one punch but he never was able to catch up to the ever-moving De Marco.

The championship bout tops a real good boxing program. A close watch on the title scrap will be kept by Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati and Art Persley of Red Cross, La., a pair of contenders for the lightweight honors. The two collide in Miami's Bayfront Auditorium Saturday night (ABC-TV, 8 p.m., CST). The winner may be in line for a shot at the DeMarco-Carter winner.

Another interesting match with title implications, sends once-beaten, 19-year-old Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn against Jimmy Slade, fifth-ranking heavyweight contender from New York, in Madison Square Garden Friday night (9 p.m., CST, NBC radio-TV). This one is limited to eight rounds because Patterson is still underage.

The winner of this clash may be the next one to face light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in a title fight. Patterson turns 20 in January and will be available for longer bouts then.

Undeclared Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer, the West Jordan, Utah middleweight who looked like a real comer in whipping Jackie LaBua last Monday, meets Germany's Peter Mueller in Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night (ABC-TV, 9 p.m., CST).

Fullmer was signed for his second straight week at the Parkway when Tony Anthony fractured a hand in training. Mueller, once barred for "life" in Germany for flattening a referee, is making his U. S. debut.

In another Monday TV fight (Dumont-TV, 9 p.m., CST), Italy's Rolo Scorticini faces Luther Rawlings of Chicago in a 10-round welterweight bout.

Also on Monday night, Hurricane Tommy Jackson hits the comeback trail against Keene Simmons of Bayonne, N. J., at Providence, R. I. Another tarnished ex-contender, Gil Turner of Philadelphia, faces Charley Scott also Philadelphia in the home town Thursday night.

California horse players failed to cash more than $400,000 worth of winning pari-mutuel tickets in 1953.

Famed Athlete Revisits Peru

Top Three Keep Spots Idle UCLA Still Is Best In Nation

NEW YORK (INS)—U.C.L.A., Ohio State and Oklahoma, the top three college football teams in the nation and the only remaining major unbeaten, untied elevens, go into the pivotal final weeks of the campaign in a close battle for the national championship.

Unblemished UCLA, sitting on the sidelines last weekend and waiting for Saturday's all-important west coast scrap with Southern California retained its position as the No. One team in the land in the voting by International News Service's six-man panel of experts.

Ohio State and Oklahoma scored impressive victories, but couldn't muster enough votes to unseat the Bruins.

UCLA was accorded four votes for first place, one for second and one for third. Figured on a 10-9-8-7-etc. basis, the Uclan's got a total of 57 points. The second-ranked Buckeyes received one first place designation and five for second with a total of 55 points.

The Sooners received one first place vote and five for third for a 50 point score. The major change in this week's standings is the dropping of Arkansas from fourth place to eighth place after the previously unbeaten Razorbacks absorbed their first setback, 21 to 14, at the hands of Southern Methodist.

As the collegians go into the season's stretch run, the rest of the top ten looks like this: 4—Notre Dame; 5—Army; 6—Southern California; 7—Navy; 8—Arkansas; 9—Mississippi and 10—Michigan.

The INS voting panel consists of former coaches Andy Kerr and Bernie Bierman, grid writer and editor Francis Powers—all scouts for the annual East-West Shrine Game—INS Reporter-Columnist Bob Considine, Sports Broadcaster Harry Wismer and INS Sports Editor John Barrington.

Scheduled action this weekend and next will have an important bearing on the final standings.

Bowl Choice 'Wonderful' Says Omaha

OMAHA (U)—"It's wonderful news."

That phrase seemed to size up Sunday the official reaction of students and faculty alike to word the University of Omaha had been selected to play in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando Fla., New Year's Day.

And while the student body whooped it up, President Milo Bail cast a sober note when he said:

"All of us accept the responsibility involved in this invitation and pledge to do our utmost to make the ninth Tangerine Bowl game the best ever."

"I thought we would get the game but didn't anticipate such an early announcement," commented Virgil Yelkin upon learning the news. "I know these fellows will continue to make us proud of them."

The announcement by Tangerine Bowl officials found most members of the football team out of town — they had attended other university grid games as spectators.

The Omaha squad had completed its unbeaten and untied season Thursday with a 57-2 victory over Doane of nearby Crete and Saturday was the first Saturday off in weeks for members of the team. Since most of the university students live at home, it was difficult to stage a "victory" rally Sunday, but small groups gathered throughout the city for "bowl talk." The university itself was closed.

NCAA Certifies Eight Bowl Tilts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS) —

Eight post-season football games were certified Sunday as meeting regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. They are:

Cotton Bowl, Dallas, Tex.; Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif.; Sugar Bowl, New Orleans, La.; Orange Bowl, Miami, Fla.; Gator Bowl, Jacksonville, Fla.; Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex.; Tangerine Bowl, Orlando, Fla., and Refrigerator Bowl, Evansville, Ind.

Executive director Walter Byers announced the games were approved by the NCAA extra events committee of which Wilbur C. Johns, UCLA athletic director, is chairman.

All games are scheduled to be played Jan. 1, except the Refrigerator Bowl which will be Dec. 5.

Byers said inquiries have been received from agencies interested in sponsoring other post-season games and indications are additional games will be approved in the future.

ER Leads Money Winning Owners

LONDON (U)—Queen

Elizabeth headed the list of winning owners in Britain's 1954 flat racing season with earnings totaling $114,000. She is the first reigning British monarch to top the list.

Robert Sterling Clark of New York and Upperville, Va., was second for the season ending Saturday with a total of $109,000. His Never Say Die, since retired to the stud, won two of Britain's classics this year, the Derby and the St. Leger.

Most of the Queen's successes were scored by her 4-year-old Aureole, who contributed $84,260 in purse money.

Doherty Will 'Negotiate' For WL City

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—

Ed Doherty, president of the American Assn., said Sunday he has filed intentions to negotiate for a Western League city rather than draft one.

The difference in the procedures is that in negotiating for a city in a lesser league, the directors of the lower loop set a price for damages incurred by the loss of the city. The higher league then may pay the price, negotiate for a lower one or simply try somewhere else.

Doherty, after talks with Western League President Edwin C. Johnson, indicated American Assn. directors would meet sometime next week. He said the directors will re-schedule the meeting set for Tuesday after they hear from Johnson.

Denver appears to have the inside track to replace Kansas City in the AA, being another Yankee farm. But Doherty will not admit this is the situation.

Knicks Nail Baltimore

BALTIMORE (U)—The New York

Knickerbockers rolled into an early lead and then fought off the Baltimore Bullets in the fading moments to triumph 95-93 in a National Basketball Association game Sunday.

Why Ancient Age can say:
"If you can find a better bourbon
...buy it!"

For many, many years we've believed so devoutly in straight Kentucky bourbon that we've distilled nothing but!

We comb sun-dappled fields for the choicest ripened grains. We use bright, clear Kentucky spring water. We wait patiently through the years while Ancient Age reaches rich maturity. We seal and bottle the incomparable result only at the distillery where it is born (essential for quality and uniformity). And whiskey experts have always agreed with us that there is no better bourbon, and that Ancient Age is a bargain at any price.

Now there is still another reason for Ancient Age's popularity. More than six years ago, we laid away extra stocks of Ancient Age. So today we actually lower the price of this truly matchless bourbon. Today this millionaire's whiskey can be enjoyed by everyone.

Taste Ancient Age and you'll see why we can say: "If you can find a better bourbon...buy it!" Reason? There is no better bourbon. And, at its new low price, this is the greatest value in history.

'Week Of Decision' For Huskers

Sooners Next; Fate May Be Decided At Boulder

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

This is the week that Nebraska finds out whether or not it goes to the Orange Bowl.

The long-awaited shot at the Oklahoma Sooners is slated for Saturday at Norman, but in all probability it will be the Big Seven game at Boulder, Colo., which will decide the Huskers' fate.

Invading Colorado will be the determined Kansas State Wildcats and the Huskers are counting on Colorado to put them in Miami.

If Nebraska beats Oklahoma nothing else matters because the Huskers' 5-1 record would top all hands. But after seeing Pittsburgh's line manhandle the Cornhuskers last week, the fast-growing belief that Nebraska was a cinch to romp past the Sooners vanished (or should have) from the minds of the homefolks.

The Husker line just couldn't match the big and quick moving Panthers and as a result they will undoubtedly be underdogs at Norman this week. That's a role that Bill Glassford's boys seem to relish best and they will be up for the Sooners, but on paper Oklahoma has a decided edge.

So it boils down to the Colorado-Kansas State game. Assuming Oklahoma will beat Nebraska, Colorado must beat the Wildcats to put the Huskers in the bowl. If K-State wins, it will have posted a 4-2 mark—the same as Nebraska—and will get the nod because it beat Nebraska.

Here are the possibilities:

1. If Nebraska beats Oklahoma, it goes to the Orange Bowl.
2. If Colorado beats Kansas State, Nebraska goes to the Orange Bowl.
3. If Kansas State beats Colorado and Oklahoma beats Nebraska, Kansas State goes to the Orange Bowl.
4. If Nebraska and Oklahoma tie and Kansas State wins, the Huskers would go to the Orange Bowl because they would have a 4½-1½ record to 4-2 for the Wildcats.
5. If Kansas State and Colorado tie, regardless of what happens between Nebraska and Oklahoma, Nebraska would get to the bowl because the best K-State could do would be a 3½-2½ record which would be topped by Nebraska's 4-2, 4½-1½ or 5-1 record.

Not Best Game

Nebraska didn't play its best game against Pitt, but it was up against the best opponent of the year.

With all the Orange Bowl talk these days, the boys probably found it hard to concentrate on the Panthers with Oklahoma just around the corner.

Actually, the game was decided in the line where Pitt had a tremendous advantage, despite the great efforts of Don Glantz, Bill Holloran, Charley Bryant, Bob Wagner and Bob Oberlin of the first unit and the entire second club line.

The Husker backs couldn't get rolling against the stout Panthers and their ground average suffered a great deal. And the lack of a concentrated passing attack also hampered them.

If the Cornhuskers could have launched a good aerial game, they would have had a more of a chance, but they couldn't find a consistent passer.

One of the most noticeable improvements was the second team's defense which held the Panthers scoreless during the second quarter. It was the first time that the No. 2 unit's defense looked the equal of the first.

This should prove valuable at Oklahoma, where both units will get another severe test.

But Glassford's troupe have been wanting a crack at the Sooners and they will be going all out. So a Husker victory could be in the realm of possibility—if all clicks right and the breaks fall the right way, but not in the realm of probability.

In other league games last week the Sooners dumped Missouri, 34-13, Kansas State overcame Iowa State 12-7, Oklahoma A&M rocked Kansas, 47-12, and Colorado defeated Utah, 20-7.

It was an astonishing reversal for the Redskins, who were trounced 37-7 by the Steelers earlier this season and who absorbed a 62-3 pasting from the Cleveland Browns a week ago.

Coach Joe Kuharich took advantage of the injury that sidelined the Steelers' big tackle, Ernie Stautner, and directed most of his offense against that spot with Ron Hansen, a fine rookie from Minnesota, the big hole-opener.

The Skins scored first as Jack Scarbath took them on an 89-yard sustained drive midway through the second period, the biggest

Redskins Rebound, Tip Favored Steelers, 17-14

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Redskins rebounded from a 62-3 lacing a week ago to overcome heavily favored Pittsburgh Sunday, 17-14, all but knocking the Steelers out of contention for the National Football League championship.

Dale Atkeson, a 210-pound youngster who never played college ball, dazzled the Steelers of their feet with a spectacular display of rushing, coming up with nearly every "big" play of the afternoon, although he did not cross the enemy goal line.

That honor went to Mr. New and Mr. Old, rookie Billy Wells and veteran Hugh (Bones) Taylor. Vic Janowicz, another rookie, kicked the field goal that provided the Redskins with their margin of victory.

It was a game of running against passing and running was a clear winner as the Redskins sent Atkeson, Wells and Rob Goode powering through the Steeler line for Washington's best yardage of the season.

While the Giants were murdering the Redskins' line to smother the Philadelphia passers with ferocious tackling, Chuck Conerly whipped three touchdown passes and Ben Agajanian made good with two of his five field goal attempts to break their first-place deadlock with Philadelphia. Each team had won five and lost two before the start of the game. The defeat dropped the Eagles to third place behind Cleveland.

Gothenburg Edged In State's 'Most Competitive' Class

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Gothenburg to the state Class B football championship prep ratings of the season.

Omaha Holy Name beats by about a step in the final third place is Tecumseh High, bearing the character of a championship contender but its challenge damaged by a less pretentious schedule than that of either Holy Name or Gothenburg.

The remainder of the Top Ten carries a strength which is consistent with the annual title battle in Class B, the most competitive prep division in the state.

Holy Name, coached by Bob Gates, defeated eight consecutive foes and was never in danger until Blair threatened in the final game. But the Ramblers broke away for a 20-7 victory in that one maintained the lead they had held during the last half of the season.

Beaten by Kearney
Gothenburg lost only to Kearney, 19-13, and the Bearcats came out of Class A ball to stop the Swedes. Coach W. L. Zorn sent his team pounding over Holdrege, the 1953 champion, in the second game of the season and the Swedes went on to break Ogallala and Ord of the Top Ten.

A tie with Curtis hurt Gothenburg, but later results showed the Ag College kids were coming on and were Top Ten timber.

Tecumseh beat the best in southeast Nebraska except undefeated Falls City of the Class A schools. Even the tough Tigers were messed up a bit by Coach Don Anderson's Indians, a senior band which will sweep the southeast prairies no more come graduation day.

The presence of four Class C teams on the Tecumseh schedule did not help the Indians rate-wise.

Won Last Six
Holdrege started slowly but won its last six games to earn fourth. The Dusters of Coach Jess Keifer beat Ord and Curtis of the Top Ten, lost to Gothenburg and Kearney early, and closed on a clear victory over Class A McCook.

Seward faded to fifth after leading during early ratings and holding second in recent weeks. The Bluejays of Coach Ralph Bowman were undefeated but were tied by Wahoo in the opener and by Ord in the Central Ten playoff.

Ord is sixth because of fine performances against Holdrege, Gothenburg and Seward. Coach Bill Gogan's Chanticleers almost got Gothenburg late in the season to substantiate their claim of a high rating.

To Ogallala falls seventh. Coach D. L. Glenn's Indians lost an early clash with Alliance and missed a tie with Gothenburg by one extra point.

Defeated Grant
Ogallala came back after that loss to Gothenburg and defeated Grant, one of the sharpest teams in Class C.

Curtis earns eighth on that scoreless tie against Gothenburg and a 33-12 defeat of York, a highly regarded eastern team. Coach Roy Pierce sent the Ag team to three straight victories to close the season.

Coach Darrell Mudra directed Tekamah to nine straight victories and ninth place in the field. The Indians were the only team to beat Oakland, a Class C power, and closed on a triumph over Blair.

Tekamah played a weak schedule but looks like class on its performances against Oakland and Blair.

Fearsome Lions Ramble To 48-7 Win Over 49ers

By JOE FALLS
DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions, in a fearsome display of passing, scored the first four times they had the ball and crushed the San Francisco 49ers, 48-7, Sunday before 58,431 spectators—largest crowd ever to see a football game in Briggs Stadium.

Piling up tremendous yardage through the air, the Lions handed the 49ers their worst defeat in their nine-year history and took a two-game lead in the Western Division of the National Football League.

Quarterback Bobby Layne pitched touchdown passes of 23 and 25 yards and set up a third score with a 53-yard aerial as the Lions zoomed to a 41-0 lead in the first three quarters and all but knocked the 49ers out of championship contention.

The loss was the third straight for the 49ers and left them with a record of 4-3-1. The Lions, now heavy favorites to sweep their third straight divisional title, have a 6-1 record.

Strangely, the turning point came on the very first play of the game, when San Francisco's Billy Tidwell fumbled the opening kickoff and Detroit's Jim Martin recovered on the 49ers' 22.

Doak Walker kicked a 34-yard field goal at 1:11 and the Lions were off to their most spectacular victory of the season.

Walker, a versatile performer, kicked two field goals (the other was from the 13), added 6 extra points and took a 66-yard touchdown pass from Bob Hoernschemeyer. His 18 points gave him 78 for the season.

Bill Bowman, rookie fullback from William & Mary, also scored on a 66-yard pass play and later exploded 43 yards on a trap play to complete the rout.

However, it was Layne, the old master, who was the ruthless signal caller in Detroit's attack. He scored the Lions' first touchdown on a 5-yard keep, after setting up the tally with a 53-yard pass to Walker.

Layne's first touchdown pass went to Jim Doran, an end who confused the 49ers by running from a halfback position, and the tally gave the Lions a 17-0 lead with less than seven minutes gone.

The next time Detroit got the ball, Walker widened the Lions' lead to 20-0 with his second field goal.

25 Colleges Still Unbeaten
NEW YORK (AP)—Seven unbeaten-untied college football teams, including fourth-ranked Arkansas and powerful Cincinnati, fell by the wayside over the weekend, leaving only 25 schools in the select group.

Only UCLA, idle over the weekend, Ohio State, winner over Purdue, and Oklahoma, conqueror of Missouri, among the major colleges remain without a blemish on their records.

In addition to Arkansas, which lost to SMU, and Cincinnati, defeated by Wichita, Michigan Normal, Montana State, Miami of Ohio, Carnegie Tech and Appalachian State dropped out of the unbeaten-untied class.

Nebraska's No. 1 football fan, Frank Feddaler, cheers Ron Clark as he races for a touchdown against Pittsburgh. Frank is a loyal Husker follower even though he has never seen a game. (Star Photo.)

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Nebraska's No. 1 Fan

Every Saturday afternoon during the football season a man walks into a Havelock business place, takes a seat near the radio and proceeds to have the time of his life.

His name is Frank Feddaler and he is Havelock's most prominent citizen, as well as being Nebraska's most ardent football fan. But Frank has never seen the Cornhuskers in action. He has been blind since birth.

"It is almost as much fun watching Frank pull for the Huskers as it is to see the game," Milt Meyer, proprietor of the place where Frank has his 50-yard-line seat. "He works as hard as the players."

Not only does Frank listen to his beloved Cornhuskers in action but he keeps records on them, too.

"I've got every score Nebraska has made since 1890," Frank says proudly. Betty Wilson of 6242 Kearney has been his official scorekeeper for the past two years. In addition to the NU scores, Frank has records of all Havelock High School games from 1926 until the opening of Northeast and all Rocket football and basketball scores to date.

Although he has attended Nebraska and Northeast games, Frank prefers a radio account of the action and he is partial to football. "They dribble a little too fast in basketball for me to keep up with them."

Frank thinks the Colorado game has been the most exciting game this year because "the boys were not going so hot last year and the first part of this year and they seemed to find themselves capable of being a good team" against the Buffs.

But his top thrill goes back a good many years ago to the time Nebraska was playing Notre Dame.

"I don't remember the year or how far he ran, but Choppy Rhodes took the ball in the early moments of the game and ran for a touchdown," Frank recalls.

How did Frank Feddaler, who lives with his sister, Mrs. Julia Fagan at 7240 Burlington, become a football fan when he has never been able to see a game?

"Well, the credit belongs to Harry Tyler, who used to be superintendent of schools in Havelock and Walter Black, the former coach out here who is now in the insurance business," Frank says emphatically. "Harry got me to go to a game back in 1926 and he explained every play. I got interested and haven't missed a game since—or missed keeping up with it."

Concerning this year's Cornhuskers, Frank feels that Ron Clark deserves a lot of credit for the success to date.

"Ron is a senior and is as consistent as any man we've got," he explains. But Frank sees a fine future for another Husker back.

"That Don Erway is going to be great. Incidentally, I have a personal interest in him. I knew Don's mother when she went to school out here."

Actually, Frank's hobby is knowing people. He's a daily visitor at the different stores along the main street of Havelock and he knows "every kid in town."

Sports and visiting with people aren't the only interests Frank enjoys. Not by a long shot. Among other things, he has a five-year record of perfect attendance in the Havelock Lions Club and is a frequent movie patron.

But sports—and especially football—signify a way of life for Frank. And the words of a wonderful gentleman, who has never seen a halfback thread his way downfield, a booming punt or a crushing tackle, yet who gets tremendous enjoyment just from listening, serve as a great inspiration.

"Every play in a football game is meant for a touchdown, but sometimes little things happen to prevent a touchdown. That's the same thing that goes on all through life and business."

"And just as you can't quit in a football game because a play doesn't work, you must keep plugging in life when things go wrong."

"In football and in life, we must get together and play together in an effort to win, regardless of the setbacks."

Those are mighty fine words from a mighty fine fellow—Mr. Frank Feddaler, truly Nebraska's No. 1 fan.

Lake Development To Be Mapped

Lewis And Clark Meeting Called

WAUSA, Neb. (U) — Promotion of the recreation development of Lewis and Clark Lake by representatives of northeast Nebraska towns will be mapped at a meeting here Thursday.

Proponents of the plan have emphasized that the organization should work closely with a similar group on the South Dakota side of the lake. The Yankton area especially is promoting the lake development.

Clarence Haley, Hartington, said the lake—a product of the Gavins Point project—would be completely formed in about 10 months.

The Corps of Army Engineers plans to release water from dams upstream to fill the lake within two months after closure of Gavins Point Dam in July, 1955.

Russell Schimm of Norfolk said a program is needed to provide for sufficient public access land so that an estimated 500,000 or more people, who visit the Nebraska shore of the lake annually, will not be deprived of recreational privileges.

Several hundred acres of land, it was said, will be needed to accommodate the estimated 10,000 or more persons who will use the Nebraska side of the lake for recreation in a day.

John Forsythe of Niobrara called the proposed lake "one of the finest in the Midwest for recreation." He noted that in addition to recreation, the Gavins Point project will provide flood control and power for Nebraska.

"After 1953," he said, "when the Oahe Dam is in operation, the lake here won't vary over three feet from high water to low water, because Gavins Point is a regulatory dam."

Forsythe said recreation is the "breadbasket" of the Gavins Point dam and neither Nebraska nor South Dakota can afford to turn down the $10 million annual business on each side which will accrue from recreational use of the lake.

KSTC Gets Big Support On Red Issue

Lincoln Star Special KEARNEY, Neb.—Letters and telegrams favor by six to one the college's withdrawal from intercollegiate debate on the Red China topic, Kearney State Teachers College president, Herbert L. Cushing, said Sunday.

Cushing reported that one of those in favor said, "It is encouraging to know that there are educators who are resisting what would seem to be the attempts to soften the inevitable, i.e., a move to admit Red China into the United Nations through formal recognition by this country of Communist aggression. It is often under the guise of so-called tolerance."

On the negative side, Cushing said, an opponent wrote of stifling "the search for truth" and "denials of man's right to knowledge." Cushing said he had not denied anyone's right to knowledge.

"But I am at a loss to understand," he said, "how anyone can get the facts about Red China."

A new topic for debate may be chosen by the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association.

Palmyra School Addition Dedicated

State Superintendent of Schools F. B. Decker addressed a proud Palmyra community Sunday afternoon at the dedication of the new $95,000 addition to the elementary high school building. The addition is composed of two elementary class rooms, a homemaking room, general shop room and additional auditorium space along with a school lunch kitchen. Workmen are shown here constructing the sidewalks around the already finished addition. School Superintendent Bernard Davis said there are 95 enrolled in the grades and 61 in the high school. ### EX-POW 'STILL HAPPY'

JUNIATA, Neb.—The change from a Communist prisoner of war camp to life on a Nebraska farm can be pretty tough.

But Jerome Consbruck of Juniata, a prisoner for 28 months, has just about made the readjustment complete. He returned to his home community a little more than a year ago.

Even meeting old friends was difficult at first. "I knew just about what they'd say and I didn't want to talk about it," he recalls. "I had to get used to cars and crowds and being around people again."

"At first I had to keep busy to keep my mind occupied and not think about it," he says.

The 23-year-old bachelor has no plans for marriage. "I'm still happy," he says.

Chamber Leaders To Gather

COLUMBUS, Neb. (U) — More than 200 Chamber officers, directors and committee chairmen from Nebraska, western Iowa and southeastern South Dakota are expected here Monday for a Chamber leaders workshop.

The workshop is designed to "further develop community leaders through a discussion of the best techniques and ideas in building better communities through a strong local Chamber of Commerce."

Dwight Havens, former manager of the Norfolk and Hastings Chambers and Nebraska's "outstanding young man" of 1947, will return for the conference. He now is manager of the service department of the national Chamber of Commerce.

Other conference leaders will include William J. Bird, manager of external affairs for the U.S. Chamber; Walter Petravage, assistant manager of the U.S. Chamber's education department; J. R. Pratt, manager of the northwestern division, and Frank Mueller, district manager for this area.

Round tables on various subjects, including "Teamwork for Better Government," "Explaining Business Is Good Business," "More Sales, More Dollars, More Business for Your Community," and "Education, an Investment in People."

A Little Warmer Forecast

Rain and thunderstorms are expected for Gulf states Monday extending northward to central Mississippi Valley. Snow flurries are expected in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York, with rain forecast for the northwest states. It will turn warmer in Plains states with the area from Texas northeastward to Maine experiencing cooler weather. There will be little temperature change in the western states. (AP Wire-photo Map.)

County Superintendent Race Ends In Muddle At Red Cloud

RED CLOUD, Neb. — Webster County officials are awaiting word from the State Department of Public Instruction as to the next step in filling the office of county superintendent.

The winning candidate in the general election, Robert L. Pullen, former superintendent in both Webster and Franklin counties, had withdrawn from the race.

However, his request that his name be taken off the ballot came too late, Webster County Clerk George Doering said. Pullen resigned after the primary election to accept a teaching position at McCook.

Following Pullen's resignation, his opponent in the superintendent race, Emil W. Friesen, was appointed to fill the office for the rest of the year in Webster County.

The Webster County clerk said he has asked the superintendent's office for an opinion on what action should be taken next.

In Franklin County, Pullen's name did not appear on the general election ballots. None of the write-in candidates were qualified for office, County Clerk Delton Johnson said.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

40 years ago The Hub was founded as a store devoted to serving Lincoln and its great trading area with perfect quality Men's apparel from America's leading manufacturers at saving prices.

In 1930 the founder's two sons took over the active management never failing thru the years to carry out the founder's famous slogan "NOBODY BUT NOBODY UNDERSELLS THE HUB".

Now in 1954 another change takes place. Joe now residing in New York City has sold his interest in The Hub to his brother Duke.

In order to make way for a newer and greater The Hub, we are liquidating The Hub's entire stock of brand new Fall and Winter Men's Apparel at savings of up to 50% and more.

In looking back through 40 years of business in Lincoln we firmly believe we have never before held a sale of this magnitude. During this Partnership Liquidation Sale we are offering profits and accepting inevitable losses in order to dispose of our present vast new Fall and Winter stock.

To avoid disappointment be sure to attend this Partnership Liquidation Sale at your earliest opportunity. Buy all of your personal needs and Christmas gifts now.

Ten Preps End Season Sans Defeat

Ten 11-man football teams in Nebraska completed the prep season undefeated.

Chadron High, Creighton Prep, Seward and Tekamah completed their schedules last week. The other six had finished earlier.

Seward was tied by Ord 0-0. Creighton Prep beat Boys Town 12-7. Chadron High defeated Crawford 33-6 and Tekamah beat Blair 14-6.

Lincoln High won the offensive title with 387 points in nine games. The Lincoln 43-point per game average also was best.

Guide Rock won the defensive title with a 2.3 point average per game.

Lincoln, Creighton Prep and Falls City are Class A teams. Chadron High, Holy Name, Seward and Tekamah are Class B schools.

Callaway, Guide Rock and Ponca are from Class C.

Carter Picked To Win Back Lost Crown

By The Associated Press
Impatient Jimmy Carter finally gets his return shot at lightweight champion Paddy De Marco in a television title fight at San Francisco's Cow Palace Wednesday night.

The twice-postponed affair is scheduled for 15 rounds, starting at 9 p.m., CST (CBS-TV) with the 30-year old Carter an 11-5 favorite to regain the crown. He lost it to the 26-year old Brooklynite in New York last March 5.

Originally scheduled for June 2 and then Sept. 22, the postponements were forced by a virus infection and an elbow injury, both suffered by De Marco. Carter is hoping that the champ will be in the best of health until fight time.

While De Marco has been mending, Carter has been busy. The solid, hard-hitting New Yorker stopped Charley Riley in two rounds and outpointed Glen Flanagan (Aug. 5) and Freddie Herman (Sept. 22).

In wrestling the crown from Carter by a 15-round decision, the bustling De Marco gave Jimmy a sound boxing lesson. Carter tried to take Paddy out with one punch but he never was able to catch up to the ever-moving De Marco.

The championship bout tops a real good boxing program. A close watch on the title scrap will be kept by Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati and Art Persley of Red Cross, La., a pair of contenders for the lightweight honors. The two collide in Miami's Bayfront Auditorium Saturday night (ABC-TV, 8 p.m. CST). The winner may be in line for a shot at the DeMarco-Carter winner.

Another interesting match with title implications, sends once-beaten, 19-year-old Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn against Jimmy Slade, fifth-ranking heavyweight contender from New York, in Madison Square Garden Friday night (9 p.m. CST, NBC radio-TV). This one is limited to eight rounds because Patterson is still underage.

The winner of this clash may be the next one to face light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in a title fight. Patterson turns 20 in January and will be available for longer bouts then.

Undefeated Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer, the West Jordan, Utah middleweight who looked like a real comer in whipping Jackie LaBua last Monday, meets Germany's Peter Mueller in Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night (ABC-TV, 9 p.m. CST).

Fullmer was signed for his second straight week at the Parkway when Tony Anthony fractured a hand in training. Mueller, once barred for "life" in Germany for flattening a referee, is making his U. S. debut.

In another Monday TV fight (Dumont-TV, 9 p.m., CST), Italy's Italo Scorticini faces Luther Rawlings of Chicago in a 10-round welterweight bout.

Also on Monday night, Hurricane Tommy Jackson hits the comeback trail against Keene Simmons of Bayonne, N. J., at Providence, R. I. Another tarnished contender, Gil Turner of Philadelphia, faces Charley Scott also Philadelphia in the home town Thursday night.

California horse players failed to cash more than $400,000 worth of winning pari-mutuel tickets in 1953.

Top Three Keep Spots

Idle UCLA Still Is Best in Nation

NEW YORK (INS)—U.C.L.A., Ohio State and Oklahoma, the top three college football teams in the nation and the only remaining major unbeaten, untied teams, go into the pivotal final weeks of the campaign in a close battle for the national championship.

Unblemished UCLA, sitting on the sidelines last weekend and waiting for Saturday's all-important west coast scrap with Southern California retained its position as the No. One team in the land in the voting by International News Service's six-man panel of experts.

Ohio State and Oklahoma scored impressive victories, but couldn't muster enough votes to unseat the Bruins.

UCLA was accorded four votes for first place, one for second and one for third. Figured on a 10-9-7-etc. basis, the Uclan's got a total of 57 points. The second-ranked Buckeyes received one first place designation and five for second with a total of 55 points.

The Sooners received one first place vote and five for third for a 50 point score.

The major change in this week's standings is the dropping of Arkansas from fourth place to eighth place after the previously unbeaten Razorbacks absorbed their first setback, 21 to 14, at the hands of Southern Methodist.

As the collegians go into the season's stretch run, the rest of the top ten looks like this:

4—Notre Dame; 5—Army; 6—Southern California; 7—Navy; 8—Arkansas; 9—Mississippi and 10—Michigan.

The INS voting panel consists of former coaches Andy Kerr and Bernie Bierman, grid writer and editor Francis Powers—all scouts for the annual East-West Shrine Game—INS Reporter-Columist Bob Considine, Sports Broadcaster Harry Wismer and INS Sports Editor John Barrington.

Scheduled action this weekend and next will have an important bearing on the final standings.

Rose Bowl because it went last New Year's, tangles with the Trojans, the team already selected as the Pacific Coast Pasadena representative. This game means even more than just the conference title with national stature hanging on the outcome for both rivals.

Southern Cal was far from idle last weekend, routing Washington, 41 to 0, as a warmup.

Ohio State, meanwhile, clinched at least a tie for the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl bid by belting Purdue, 28 to 6. The Buckeyes go up against Michigan Saturday in the NCAA's TV game of the week. The Wolverines, who bested Michigan State, 33 to 7, can deadlock the Buckeyes by beating them.

Oklahoma, a 34 to 13 victor over Missouri, can wrap up the Big Seven crown by beating Nebraska. The Sooners clinched a tie for the crown by making Missouri their 17th straight victim.

It was tough for Arkansas all around. The Porkers surrendered fourth spot to Notre Dame, a 42-13 winner over North Carolina. And, in addition, Arkansas blew the leadership in the Southwest Conference as it suffered its first loss in eight tests. LSU is next for the Razorbacks.

Notre Dame tangles with Iowa and out Iowa, which tumbled out of ninth place and out of the top ten after losing to Minnesota, 22 to 20. Army and Navy, idle this week before their big game Nov. 27, warmed up with easy wins.

Army walloped wireless Penn, 35 to 0 and Navy swamped Hapless Columbia, 51 to 6.

Mississippi moved up a notch after whitewashing Houston, 26 to 0.

In addition to Arkansas, Cincinnati was another major power to drop its all-winning role. Wichita blanked the Bearcats, 13 to 0 and stopped their winning streak at 16 straight.

Bowl Choice 'Wonderful' Says Omaha

OMAHA (AP)—"It's wonderful news."

That phrase seemed to size up Sunday the official reaction of students and faculty alike to word the University of Omaha had been selected to play in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando Fla., New Year's Day.

And while the student body whooped it up, President Milo Bail cast a sober note when he said:

"All of us accept the responsibility involved in this invitation and pledge to do our utmost to make the ninth Tangerine Bowl game the best ever."

"I thought we would get the game but didn't anticipate such an early announcement," commented Virgil Yelkin upon learning the news. "I know these fellows will continue to make us proud of them."

The announcement by Tangerine Bowl officials found most members of the football team out of town — they had attended other university grid games as spectators.

The Omaha squad had completed its unbeaten and untied season Thursday with a 57-2 victory over Doane of nearby Crete and Saturday was the first Saturday off in weeks for members of the team. Since most of the university students live at home, it was difficult to stage a "victory" rally Sunday, but small groups gathered throughout the city for "bowl talk." The university itself was closed.

NCAA Certifies Eight Bowl Tilts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS) —

Eight post-season football games were certified Sunday as meeting regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. They are:

Cotton Bowl, Dallas, Tex.; Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif.; Sugar Bowl, New Orleans, La.; Orange Bowl, Miami, Fla.; Gator Bowl, Jacksonville, Fla.; Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex.; Tangerine Bowl, Orlando, Fla., and Refrigerator Bowl, Evansville, Ind.

Executive director Walter Byers announced the games were approved by the NCAA extra events committee of which Wilbur C. Johns, UCLA athletic director, is chairman.

All games are scheduled to be played Jan. 1, except the Refrigerator Bowl which will be Dec. 5.

Byers said inquiries have been received from agencies interested in sponsoring other post-season games and indications are additional games will be approved in the future.

ER Leads Money Winning Owners

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth headed the list of winning owners in Britain's 1954 flat racing season with earnings totaling $114,000. She is the first reigning British monarch to top the list.

Robert Sterling Clark of New York and Upperville, Va., was second for the season ending Saturday with a total of $109,000. His Never Say Die, since retired to the stud, won two of Britain's classics this year, the Derby and the St. Leger.

Most of the Queen's successes were scored by her 4-year-old Aureole, who contributed $84,260 in purse money.

Doherty Will 'Negotiate' For WL City

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Ed Doherty, president of the American Assn., said Sunday he has filed intentions to negotiate for a Western League city rather than draft one.

The difference in the procedures is that in negotiating for a city in a lesser league, the directors of the lower loop set a price for damages incurred by the loss of the city. The higher league then may pay the price, negotiate for a lower one or simply try somewhere else.

Doherty, after talks with Western League President Edwin C. Johnson, indicated American Assn. directors would meet sometime next week. He said the directors will re-schedule the meeting set for Tuesday after they hear from Johnson.

Denver appears to have the inside track to replace Kansas City in the AA, being another Yankee farm. But Doherty will not admit this is the situation.

Knicks Nail Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—The New York Knickerbockers rolled into an early lead and then fought off the Baltimore Bullets in the fading moments to triumph 95-93 in a National Basketball Association game Sunday.

Why Ancient Age can say:
*"If you can find a better bourbon
...buy it!"*

For many, many years we've believed so devoutly in straight Kentucky bourbon that we've distilled nothing but!

We comb sun-dappled fields for the choicest ripened grains. We use bright, clear Kentucky spring water. We wait patiently through the years while Ancient Age reaches rich maturity. We seal and bottle the incomparable result only at the distillery where it is born (essential for quality and uniformity). And whiskey experts have always agreed with us that there is no better bourbon, and that Ancient Age is a bargain at any price.

Now there is still another reason for Ancient Age's popularity. More than six years ago, we laid away extra stocks of Ancient Age. So today we actually lower the price of this truly matchless bourbon. Today this millionaire's whiskey can be enjoyed by everyone.

Taste Ancient Age and you'll see why we can say: "If you can find a better bourbon...buy it!" Reason? There is no better bourbon. And, at its new low price, this is the greatest value in history.

Hair-Raising Yarns Of American Crime Swapped At Chicago Convention

CHICAGO (INS) — Some of the most hair raising yarns of American crime were swapped Sunday by a Texas public relations man, a New York chain store executive and a Trenton, N. J., magistrate. All three are former FBI agents. They are Gus T. Jones of San Antonio, who was a Texas ranger before joining the federal service, Ralph D. Brown of New York, and Judge Gordon A. Philips of Trenton.

The close-mouthed tradition of the G-men was relaxed as nearly 1,000 members of the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc., collected in Chicago for their first national convention.

Some had not seen each other since the days of the Barker-Karpis gang roundup, the capture of John Dillinger and World War II spy hunts.

Brown, who has two sons—Jim 19, and Pete 21—got to chatting with Jones about the 1933 kidnappings of William Hamm Jr. in St. Paul, and of Charles W. Urschel in Oklahoma City.

Big Assignment
The case of the brewery heir, Hamm, was Brown's big assignment only a year before he joined forces in Chicago to nose in on Dillinger, who died in a snapper of bullets rather than surrender.

Jones, however, persuaded the terrified George (MacMahon) Kelly to surrender in cracking the $200,000 kidnapping of oil millionaire Urschel. Kelly was imprisoned until his death last July.

Jones, now 72, said: "The Urschel case was the first prosecuted under the Lindbergh Federal Kidnaping Law. And I think we helped put a finish to kidnapping. It was the last really big one until the Bobby Greenlease case in Kansas City."

He added: You know, Kelly had planned to pile up a million dollars through kidnappings. He drew up a list of five prospective victims.

"As it happened, he found the top one on the list was out of town, so he started with number two—Urschel."

'Biggest Kick'
Jones, who served with the FBI from 1916 to 1944, feels his "biggest kick" came in "populating Alcatraz." He explained:

"Alcatraz opened for business in 1937 and I headed a contingent that brought in the first shipment from other prisons—210 of the most dangerous criminals.

"Al Capone was one who went, with 27 others from Atlanta."

Brown, who left the FBI in 1939, said: "The thing that pleased me the most, I suppose, was the training to get the facts to prove a man is innocent as well as to convict a man who is guilty."

This was seconded by Judge Philips, who helped track down World War II espionage on the East Coast before resigning in 1945 to practice law.

The huddle broke up when Jones said:

"Well, my wife's waiting to go to dinner. When a man's been married 41 years..."

He met the woman he married in the 1940s after he nabbed the slayer of her brother, a side kick of Jones in the Texas Rangers.

Commander Is Named For RAF In Malaya

LONDON (AP)—Air Commodore Wallace Hart Kyle, 44, Australian-born aide-de-camp to Queen Elizabeth, Sunday was named commander of the RAF in Malaya. He will take over his new duties in February, with the rank of acting air vice-marshal.

Lake Development To Be Mapped

Lewis And Clark Meeting Called

WAUSA, Neb. (AP) — Promotion of the recreation development of Lewis and Clark Lake by representatives of northeast Nebraska towns will be mapped at a meeting here Thursday.

Proponents of the plan have emphasized that the organization should work closely with a similar group on the South Dakota side of the lake. The Yankton area especially is promoting the lake development.

Clarence Haley, Hartington, said the lake—a product of the Gavins Point project—would be completely formed in about 10 months.

The Corps of Army Engineers plans to release water from dams up-stream to fill the lake within two months after closure of Gavins Point Dam in July, 1955.

Russell Schimm of Norfolk said a program is needed to provide for sufficient public access land so that an estimated 500,000 or more people, who visit the Nebraska shore of the lake annually, will not be deprived of recreational privileges.

Several hundred acres of land, it was said, will be needed to accommodate the estimated 10,000 or more persons who will use the Nebraska side of the lake for recreation in a day.

John Forsythe of Niobrara called the proposed lake "one of the finest in the Midwest for recreation." He noted that in addition to recreation, the Gavins Point project will provide flood control and power for Nebraska.

"After 1958," he said, "when the Oahe Dam is in operation, the lake here won't vary over three feet from high water to low water, because Gavins Point is a regulatory dam."

Forsythe said recreation is the "breadbasket" of the Gavins Point dam and neither Nebraska nor South Dakota can afford to turn down the $10 million annual business on each side which will accrue from recreational use of the lake.

KSTC Gets Big Support On Red Issue

Lincoln Star Special
KEARNEY, Neb.—Letters and telegrams favor by six to one the college's withdrawal from intercollegiate debate on the Red China topic, Kearney State Teachers College president, Herbert L. Cushing, said Sunday.

Cushing reported that one of those in favor said, "It is encouraging to know that there are educators who are resisting what would seem to be the attempts to soften the inevitable, i.e., a move to admit Red China into the United Nations through formal recognition by this country of Communist aggression. It is often under the guise of so-called tolerance."

On the negative side, Cushing said, an opponent wrote of stifling "the search for truth" and "denials of man's right to knowledge." Cushing said he had not denied anyone's right to knowledge.

"But I am at a loss to understand," he said, "how anyone can get the facts about Red China."

A new topic for debate may be chosen by the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association.

Grain Elevator Rises At Grant

GRANT, Neb. (AP)—A $475,000 concrete grain elevator and storage unit with a combined capacity of 1,250,000 bushels in its 26 tubes, will be completed and ready for use by Jan. 1.

The structure, 130 feet high with a 20-foot inside diameter and 13 inner stice bins 130 feet high, is being constructed by the Producers Grain Co. Inc., of Grant. Chalmers and Borton of Hutchinson, Kan., are the contractors.

Palmyra School Addition Dedicated

State Superintendent of Schools F. B. Decker addressed a proud Palmyra community Sunday afternoon at the dedication of the new $95,000 addition to the elementary high school building. The addition is composed of two elementary class rooms, a homeliving room, general shop room and additional auditorium space along with a school lunch kitchen. Workmen are shown here constructing the sidewalks around the already finished addition. School Superintendent Bernard Davis said there are 95 enrolled in the grades and 61 in the high school. ## EX-POW 'STILL HAPPY'

JUNIATA, Neb.—The change from a Communist prisoner of war camp to life on a Nebraska farm can be pretty tough.

But Jerome Consbruck of Juniata, a prisoner for 28 months, has just about made the readjustment complete. He returned to his home community a little more than a year ago.

Even meeting old friends was difficult at first. "I knew just about what they'd say and I didn't want to talk about it," he recalls. "I had to get used to cars and crowds and being around people again."

"At first I had to keep busy to keep my mind occupied and not think about it," he says.

The 23-year-old bachelor has no plans for marriage. "I'm still happy," he says.

Chamber Leaders To Gather

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — More than 200 Chamber officers, directors and committee chairmen from Nebraska, western Iowa and southeastern South Dakota are expected here Monday for a Chamber leaders workshop.

The workshop is designed to "further develop community leaders through a discussion of the best techniques and ideas in building better communities through a strong local Chamber of Commerce."

Dwight Havens, former manager of the Norfolk and Hastings Chambers and Nebraska's "outstanding young man" of 1947, will return for the conference. He now is manager of the service department of the national Chamber of Commerce.

Other conference leaders will include William J. Bird, manager of external affairs for the U.S. Chamber; Walter Petravage, assistant manager of the U.S. Chamber's education department; J. R. Pratt, manager of the northwestern division, and Frank Mueller, district manager for this area.

Round tables on various subjects, including "Teamwork for Better Government," "Explaining Business Is Good Business," "More Sales, More Dollars, More Business for Your Community," and "Education, an Investment in People."

A Little Warmer Forecast

Rain and thunderstorms are expected for Gulf states Monday extending northward to central Mississippi Valley. Snow flurries are expected in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York, with rain forecast for the northwest states.

It will turn warmer in Plains states with the area from Texas northeastward to Maine experiencing cooler weather. There will be little temperature change in the western states. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

County Superintendent Race Ends In Muddle At Red Cloud

RED CLOUD, Neb. — Webster County officials are awaiting word from the State Department of Public Instruction as to the next step in filling the office of county superintendent.

The winning candidate in the general election, Robert L. Pullen, former superintendent in both Webster and Franklin counties, had withdrawn from the race.

However, his request that his name be taken off the ballot came too late, Webster County Clerk George Doering said. Pullen resigned after the primary election to accept a teaching position at McCook.

Following Pullen's resignation, his opponent in the superintendent's race, Emil W. Friesen, was appointed to fill the office for the rest of the year in Webster County.

The Webster County clerk said he has asked the superintendent's office for an opinion on what action should be taken next.

In Franklin County, Pullen's name did not appear on the general election ballots. None of the write-in candidates were qualified for office, County Clerk Delton Johnson said.
